PILOT JORDAN . . . Leaves F-104 Jet In Which He Posted New Altitude Record

—AF FLIER CLIMBS NEARLY 20 MILES—

RECORD SHATTERED

Soviet Mark Is Bettered

'I Never Once Looked Straight Up,' Joe Jordan Says

Los Angeles (AP)—The Air Force claimed a new world altitude record Tuesday—set by a stub-winged fighter which zoomed almost 20 miles into the sky.

Capt. Joe B. Jordan flew his F104C Starfighter to 103,395.5 feet—"right off the top" of the radar screen and so high his altimeter wouldn't record it.

"My altimeter was pegged at 100,000 feet," Jordan told a news conference here Tuesday. "They just don't make them to go any higher."

He achieved the mark Monday over Edwards Air Force Base, a desert base 100 miles north of Los Angeles. National Aeronatuic Assn. experts verified it through theodolite tracking cameras.

It will not go to the international aviation group, the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, for confirmation as a world's record. It exceeded by 4,835.5 feet a record claimed Dec. 6 by a Navy fighter.

Old Mark Beaten

The previous official record was 94,658 feet, achieved in July by a Soviet TU431.

The plane's builder, Lockheed Aircraft Corp., said the FAI would also be asked to recognize a new world's time-to-climb record for 30,000 meters. The F104C reached the 98,424-foot mark in 15 minutes 4.92 seconds from brake release on the ground.

Jordan, of Sweeney, Tex., said that until he landed he didn't think he had broken the record. Then he learned he had risen so high radar men couldn't track him.

"One of them wanted to see how far I could really go on the screen," he said. "I flew right off the top."

Straight Up

He said he climbed to 45,000 feet at a 45-degree angle and then climbed straight up. He concentrated on his instruments as he rose.

"It's darker up there. But when I got to 90,000 feet I took a look—and I could see the Gulf of California." The gulf is 300 miles south of Edwards.

"I never once looked straight up," he said. "It was too dark up there, and I can't get too much away from the aircraft."

Jordan said he was in complete control of the plane at all times.

"Stability was good. I never once rolled over on my back, and when I went over the top, I just floated over."

The 21-minute flight took Jordan through temperatures of minus 63 degrees centigrade. The missile-like plane—54 feet long and with a wing span of only 22 feet—reached a maximum speed of mach 2.36, about 1,600 mph in ground speed, during the climb.

Home For Christmas

Jordan, 30, is married and the father of a 7-month-old daughter. He expects to join them in Texas for Christmas.

First word of the new mark was released in Washington by Vice President Nixon in presenting the Collier award for outstanding flight achievements to designers and pilots of the Starfighter.

Maj. Matos Draws 20-Year Sentence

Havana (AP)—Maj. Hubert Matos, who quit the Castro revolution with a blast against Communism, was sentenced by a Castro military court Tuesday to 20 years in prison for sedition.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro himself testified against Matos, his former commander for Camaguey province.

While Matos escaped with his life, two other Cubans were sentenced by a military tribunal at Pinar Del Rio to die before firing squads.

One of the two condemned men testified the top leader of the anti-Castro forces was Frank Austin Young, 38-year-old soldier-of-fortune pilot from Miami, Fla., who escaped the death penalty and is serving a 30-year term in a Castro prison.

New Charge Seen

Young escaped jail at Pinar Del Rio after sentencing last week but was recaptured in Havana and is expected to be tried for jail breaking.

Those condemned at Pinar Del Rio are Luis Lara, a corporal in the old Batista army of pre-Castro times, and Jose Antonio Morffi Reyes, accused leaders of a provincial anti-Castro band.

Castro recently ordered revival of the military tribunals and firing squads that sent about 555 persons to death in the first half of this year.

Matos' charges of Communist infiltration in the Castro ranks while he was commander in Camaguey hardened Castro's attitude toward what he calls counter-revolutionaries. But the court was comparatively lenient with Matos.

The 5 officers of the court rejected a prosecution demand for the death penalty.

Defense lawyer Francisco Lorie Bertot called the verdict "the most monstrous judicial error in the history of the world" and said he would appeal the decision immediately.

Twenty-one officers seized with Matos received jail terms of two to 5 years. Thirteen others were acquitted.

Matos, a 41-year-old ex-school teacher who rose to the highest possible rank in the rebel army by helping Fidel Castro become Cuba's strong man, heard the sentence pronounced some 12 hours after the 4-day trial ended.

Herter Hits NATO Rift

Paris (AP) — Secretary of State Christian Herter Tuesday challenged President Charles de Gaulle's go-it-alone NATO policy. And he hinted at possible U.S. troop cutbacks in Europe unless the Allies shoulder a full share of the defense burden.

Herter echoed U.S. military leaders' dissatisfaction with the drift of the Western alliance in a major, 40-minute speech opening the annual conference of NATO foreign ministers.

On the question of U.S. commitments to NATO, Herter told the 14 other partners in NATO:

"Let me assure this council categorically that as long as the Soviet threat to our collective security exists and NATO continues to command the loyal participation of all of its other members, it is the policy of the United States to maintain American troops as an effective part of the shield in Europe."

Congress Considered

Herter then warned that the ability of his government to obtain appropriations from Congress to maintain U.S. troop strength in Europe is "related to the degree of effort and determination demonstrated by our NATO partners."

The secretary of state, insisting that NATO forces must remain under one command, declared: "We must maintain the principle of an integrated defense system."

But de Gaulle, who has pulled the bulk of his military forces out from under the NATO command, stood pat. He told members of parliament who called on him that he remained opposed to integration.

Placek Gives 4½ Acres For Wahoo Park

Lincoln Star Special

Wahoo — Emil E. Placek, prominent Wahoo banker, presented his community with an early Christmas gift Tuesday by deeding 4½ acres of land to the city for development into a park and recreational area.

Placek

The deed was given to Mayor Lloyd Torrens at a special meeting of the Wahoo Lions Club.

Cost of the tract, according to Clyde R. Worrall, Wahoo attorney and master of ceremonies at the meeting, was $6,000. He reported purchase of the land was made from Dr. George Beadle of the California Institute of Technology and holder of a 1958 Nobel award.

Worrall reported several civic and fraternal organizations have already offered to help beautify the land, which extends north from Broadway.

The home of the late Chauncey Beadle, father of Dr. Beadle, was located on the deeded property and has been given to the Boy Scouts by Mr. Placek for a permanent home.

Placek, well known world traveler, observed his 82nd birthday Monday and was honored at a dinner given by his associates.

Ike Rests Aboard Cruiser

With Eisenhower in the Mediterranean (AP) —President Eisenhower relaxed at sea Tuesday night still warmed by the electrifying ovation his message of peace received from the Greek parliament.

The wild shouts and applause that echoed through the 120-year-old parliament hall at Athens were led by communist-line deputies. It was the loudest and longest ovation the President has received from any body of legislators during his visits to 7 nations.

The cheers capped a visit that was a triumph from start to finish. Some 750,000 Athenians hailed him like a returning Trojan War hero on his arrival Monday. Hundreds of thousands more cheered him Tuesday.

Festive Occasion

Athens was a riot of crowds, flags, balloons and banners up to the time the President boarded a helicopter in front of the Olympic Stadium and flew to the U.S. Cruiser Des Moines in Phaleron Bay.

Even as he steamed away he was pursued by a foghorn symphony from scores of motor launches, fishing boats and other small craft.

Ten years ago American aid was instrumental in defeating Greek communists in a bloody civil war. Tuesday 78 communist-line deputies in parliament hailed the American President when he declared he wished to speak "on a cause close to my heart . . . the cause is peace and friendship in freedom."

Enthusiasm Fades

But there was little else in his speech for the communists to cheer about.

He said the Free World must develop and preserve strength "militarily, economically but above all spiritually" to win that peace.

He spoke of a peace "creative, dynamic, fostering a world climate that will relieve men and their governments of the intolerable burden of armaments, liberate them from the haunting fear of global war and universal death."

Within minutes after boarding the Des Moines, Eisenhower put on a sports jacket and slacks, and within an hour was taking a nap. Aides said he planned to go to bed shortly after his 7 p.m. dinner.

Warm Weather Still The Ticket

Partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures are in store for most of Nebraska Wednesday.

The weather report calls for little change in temperatures with the highs to range in the 50s.

Lincoln reported the state high Tuesday with 61 degrees. The state low was 14 reported at Sidney.

The low in Lincoln was 27 degrees.

Christmas At Our House:

OUR CHRISTMAS STORY

By Mrs. Billy Graham

As Told to Elizabeth Sherrill

CHAPTER 1

Do you ever have oysters for breakfast?

We do, once a year, on Christmas morning.

Perhaps you wonder why.

My mother always served oyster stew for Christmas breakfast when I was a girl in China. It was a family custom. And when my father, who is a doctor, decided that it was time to bring his family back to America we brought back the custom of oysters for Christmas breakfast, too.

Mrs. Graham

Let's pretend that you've come to visit us on Christmas. There's a special reason why it has to be Christmas, of all the days in the year. This is the day when, after all the presents are opened, we sit in front of the fire and hear the Christmas story from the Bible. I want you to pretend that you're hearing it with us because, later, I want to ask you a question about it.

Only Pretend Oysters

This will be just a pretend visit—and that will have one advantage: You'll only have to eat pretend oysters.

I'll tell you about our house so that you can imagine you are here. In the first place, there's our dog. His name is Belshazzar because in Old Testament times there was a king named Belshazzar who gave a great feast for a thousand lords, and every time we see Belshazzar eat we feel as though we're feeding a thousand lords, too. Belshazzar is a Great Pyrenees. He's so big you can ride on his back. Our children do.

Our house will make you think of a pioneer's cabin off in the woods. We asked the men who built it to leave the logs showing and the walls rough, like those of an old-fashioned log cabin. It's just the place to run and make

BALLOON ESCAPES

Rapid City, S.D. (AP) — A 10 million cubic foot plastic balloon 500 feet high, described as the largest ever launched, was lost late Tuesday probably somewhere east of Oklahoma.

The big unmanned balloon soared away on high altitude winds and out of radio range while soupy overcast below forced a tracking plane to land at North Platte, Neb.

An automatic mechanism was timed to release the 1,800 pound ballast cargo from the balloon at 1 p.m. for parachute descent to earth.

Body Found Near Elkhorn

Omaha (AP)—The body of 34-year-old William D. Connor Jr., of Omaha, was found in a ditch Tuesday night about 15 to 20 feet from the Dodge Road bridge across the Elkhorn River.

The sheriff's office said there was no evidence of foul play. Friends of Connor said they had not seen him since Sunday. He was dressed as if he intended to go hunting but no gun was found.

His car was nearby. A window had been broken and the car appeared to have been ransacked.

Connor was a farm machinery representative who traveled in Nebraska and South Dakota.

An autopsy was ordered.

Dr. Bancroft Dr. Elliott

Dr. Elliott To Head County Medical Unit

Dr. Clarence K. Elliott Tuesday evening was named president-elect of the Lancaster County Medical Society and Dr. Paul M. Bancroft became president for the coming year.

Dr. Forest I. Rose was re-elected as secretary-treasurker. Counting of ballots for the election of other officers had not been completed.

Dr. John T. McGreer Jr. was the outgoing president.

Kyl Wins Iowa Vote

Ottumwa, Ia. (AP) — A personable 40-year-old Republican clothing merchant who promised to try to correct farm policies of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson won election to Congress Tuesday from Iowa's 4th District.

John Kyl of Bloomfield, who holds a master's degree from the University of Nebraska, won election over Democrat C. Edwin Gilmour, state senator and Grinnell College political science professor.

Kyl said after his victory was assured that one of his first acts will be to call Iowa farm leaders together to try to work out proposals for a new agricultural program.

Unofficial returns from the district's 313 precincts gave Kyl 28,336 to 25,804 for Gilmour.

The election had attracted national interest as a test of sentiment in the Midwest corn-hog belt toward the Eisenhower administration's farm policies, though both candidates sharply criticized the program during the campaign.

It was Kyl's second try for the congressional seat. He was defeated in 1958 by the late Democratic Rep. Steven Carter, whose death Nov. 4 made necessary Tuesday's special election.

Attorney Named To Advise Decker

Youth's Arraignment On Murder Charge Scheduled For Friday

By Del Harding

Lincoln Atty. Jack Devoe was appointed late Tuesday afternoon to represent 15½-year-old Gerald Allen Decker on a second degree murder charge in Lancaster County Court.

Decker had been brought before County Judge Herbert A. Ronin by County Atty. Elmer Scheele and charged with the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Edna Zajicek of 4911 Walker.

But Scheele, noting the boy's age and the fact that he has been a resident of the State Home for Children (Whitehall) since 1952, requested that Decker's arraignment be delayed until an attorney could be appointed to advise the youth.

Judge Ronin then set the arraignment, at which the boy will enter a plea to the charge, for Friday at 10:30 a.m.

Scheele had a poverty affidavit and a request for the appointment of counsel prepared, Decker signed them and the documents were filed in Lancaster District Court.

Several hours later District Judge Paul W. White appointed Devoe to represent the boy at the County Court arraignment.

10 To Life

The second degree murder complaint charges that Decker did "unlawfully, purposely and maliciously, but without deliberation and premeditation, kill Edna Zajicek" early Monday morning. The charge carries a penalty of from 10 years to life imprisonment.

In the brief County Court hearing Scheele told Judge Ronin he had received a call from Decker's father in Omaha and that the father said he was not in a position to hire an attorney for his son.

Scheele quoted the father as saying he hadn't seen his son since the boy became a ward of the state at the age of 7 and that he hadn't even known the boy's whereabouts until he read of the case.

At Hospital

At Scheele's suggestion Judge Ronin authorized keeping Decker at the State Hospital because the county has no facilities for segregating a juvenile offender from adult criminals.

Decker has signed a 23-page statement in which he reportedly admits stabbing Mrs. Zajicek several times with a butcher knife. He told authorities he had gone to the Zajicek home to steal their car and that Mrs. Zajicek became alarmed and screamed when she saw he was carrying the knife.

The boy was acquainted with both Mrs. Zajicek, who was the matron at Whitehall, and with her husband, James, who is the home's night watchman.

Decker was stopped by police about 2:30 a.m. Monday near 48th and Holdrege for a routine check. When over $100 was found in his possession he was taken to Police Headquarters for questioning, and later told police of the crime.

White Rule To End

Dar Es Salaam, Tanganyika (AP)—Sir Richard Turnbull, Tanganyika governor, announced constitutional changes for ending white rule in this British-run U.N. trust territory "provided there are no untoward developments."

Girl's Parents Plead Innocent To Assault; Child Still 'Poor'

The parents of a 3-year-old Lincoln girl seriously injured by beatings, which they allegedly inflicted both pleaded innocent to felonious assault charges Tuesday in Lancaster County Court.

Wayland Nelson, 28, and his wife Anna Mae, 25, were charged with "asaulting Cynthia Nelson with intent to inflict great bodily injury." The complaint alleges the assaults occurred between June 1 and Dec. 11.

Cynthia was reported in poor condition at a local hospital.

The Nelsons, who live at 1728 So. 14th, allegedly told police they had beaten the child with a belt and an extension cord in attempts to correct the child's behavior.

Judge Herbert A. Ronin set Dec. 30 for a preliminary hearing on the charges and set appearance bonds of $5,000 each for Nelson and his wife.

The Nelsons' 4 other children, ranging in age from 8 months to 4 years, have been placed temporarily at a local children's home.

John L. Lewis, Nearing 80, Quits Mine Union Helm

HE HELD UMW POST 40 YEARS

Washington (AP) — John L. Lewis, unionism's golden-tongued maverick, Tuesday announced an end to a decades-long career as a moving force in pushing organized labor from bloody turbulence to strength and stability.

Lewis, hale and hearty although nearing 80, said in an open letter to members of the United Mine Workers union he will retire as UMW president shortly after the new year. He has held the job 40 years.

The bushy-browed titan of American labor, famed for his battles with employers and the government in a series of hectic strikes and organizing drives, penned this farewell to coal miners:

"The years have been long and the individual burdens oppressive, yet progress has been great.

"At first your wages were low, your hours long, your labor perilous, your health disregarded, your children without opportunity, your union weak, your fellow citizens and public representatives indifferent to your wrongs.

Gains Are Cited

"Today, because of your fortitude and deep loyalty to your union, your wages are the highest in the land, your workings hours the lowest, your safety more assured, your health more guarded, your old age protected, your children equal in opportunity with their generation, and your union strong, with material resources."

Thus did Lewis total up the results of a lifetime of battling for coal miners and leading the giant organizing drives in the steel, auto, glass, rubber and other industries in the early days of the New Deal.

Lewis will be succeeded as UMW president by Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton, Pa., now UMW vice president and a man Lewis said is qualified in every way.

Lewis will continue at his full $50,000 annual salary in retirement. He probably will continue to serve as chief trustee for the 150-million-dollar-a-year mine workers' welfare and retirement fund.

SOUTH U.S. GETS SNOW AND RAIN

By The Associated Press

A 10 to 12-inch snowfall blocked many highways in eastern New Mexico and western Texas Tuesday while widespread rains brought the worst icing conditions in 20 years in parts of the Texas Panhandle.

Blizzard conditions or snow drifts up to 12 feet deep blocked 5 main U.S. highways in New Mexico, stranding hundreds of motorists. Northern New Mexico reported temperatures as low as 30 below zero. An 18-inch fall was measured in the mountains in the southern part of the state.

Scores Stranded

The snows and rains in Texas closed schools in 8 Texas communities, disrupted telephone and power facilities in some areas and stranded an estimated 100 travelers unable to break through the deep drifts on Highway 66 west of Vega.

The rains measured more than 4 inches in places.

Quotas Kept On 3 Crops

Washington (UPI) — The nation's cotton, rice and peanut farmers voted Tuesday to extend strict marketing quotas on their crops rather than accept reduced federal price supports.

Cotton and rice growers voted on a one-year extension of marketing quotas which have been in effect since 1954 for cotton and 1955 for rice. Peanut growers decided to extend their quotas another 3 years, as they did by a huge margin in 1956.

'Lincoln Goes Into New Era Of Civic Progress'

. . . New Chamber Head Gold Confident

"The second 100 years of Lincoln's existence starts on an auspicious note for the Chamber with Lincoln's economy fully recovered from the setbacks of 1958 and the city is ready for another era of civic progress," William Gold II said Tuesday evening.

Gold received the gavel of office as president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce at installation ceremonies at the Lincoln Country Club. He succeeds Robert A. Dobson as Chamber president.

Taking office with Gold were E. N. Thompson, first vice-president, succeeding Dr. Norman Carlson; A. James Ebel, second vice-president, succeeding John P. Morrow; Thomas R. Pansing, 3rd vice-president, succeeding J. Vaulx Risser; and Harry R. Haynie, treasurer, succeeding Gold.

Assistant general manager Donald A. Stacy, who has been serving as secretary pro-tem to the board of directors, resigned his position. The board elected new general manager John R. Fraker as secretary. Fraker's duties began with the Tuesday evening meeting.

Newly elected directors who were installed for 3-year terms are Kenneth L. Lawson, J. William Mowbray, J. Phillip Mahoney, Orville E. Kingery Jr., William O. Dobler, Jack D. Trombla and Myron Weil. They succeed Carl Deitemeyer, George A. Knight, John P. Morrow, Richard Joyce, A. L. Minier and A. Q. Schimmel. Retiring President Dobson will remain on the board another year, replacing Harold Hoppe.

Dobson said that 1959 will be noted as a year of astonishing recovery for Lincoln. Following the loss of the Elgin plant and curtailment of employment at Western Electric, unemployment rose to a high of 3,850, but near the year's end was down to a low of 800. This is considerably below the national average.

Expansion Within

Dobson cited examples of expansion from within by Lincoln businessmen. According to Dobson, their confidence in the future of the city is the main reason for this record.

The retiring president also pointed to the extended service of the local airline service for Lincoln.

Dobson feels these facts, along with Chamber activities in the Centennial celebration, were high points of his year in office.

Speaking for his fellow officers, Gold declared that "the solid foundation laid during the administration of President Dobson will provide a base for a continuing vigorous Chamber program to help direct and advance the progress of Lincoln."

'After-Care Mental Health Plan Needed'

. . . Peterson Says

Nebraska's mental health program "has made a remarkable progress and we are farther ahead in facilities and treatment than many other states," Board of Control Vice Chairman Harold Peterson said Tuesday.

He made the comment at the 4th annual meeting of the advisory boards to the state mental institutions.

"But I believe we now should study to see what happens to these patients, particularly the older ones, in terms of adjustment, care and treatment after they are released," Peterson added.

Dr. Cecil Wittson of the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, and director of the state's mental health program, said the number of patients readmitted to mental hospitals continues to decline but is still too high.

Those readmitted at Lincoln, Hastings and Norfolk mental hospitals after 10-month convalescent leaves totaled 14.4% this year, compared with 18% in 1955.

The percentage of those returning Willson said, indicates a "hole in our program, which I believe is an integrated after-care plan, once the patient is released."

Substitute Violinist Pleases Lincoln Symphony Audience

By Louis Casimer

Lincoln symphony-goers were given an unexpected thrill Tuesday night at the Stuart Theater with some excellent virtuoso violin playing. Paul Makanowitzky came unheralded as a substitute for Frances Magnes and remained to captivate his Lincoln audience completely.

A burst of spontaneous applause followed the brilliant first movement, and there was a tremendous ovation at the conclusion of the finale. He made the familiar Tschaikowsky Violin Concerto an unforgettable gem in a performance that coupled conviction and passion with intellectual comprehension. The playing of this well-poised and proficient performer had a grand sweep and rhythmic verve. The violinists interpret this as exceptionally well controlled finger work—supple and secure.

It was apparent that Mr. Makanowitzky was well pleased with the accompaniment of conductor Leo Kopp and the Lincoln Symphony.

The orchestra opened the concert with a delightful interpretation of von Weber's Overture to "Oberon." The added depth in the strings showed to advantage in all the works of the evening and created a fine balance of parts in the Cesar Franck Symphony in D Minor. The last movement was especially supple with the interweaving of themes among different groups of instruments until they all soared to the final thrilling climax.

The orchestra played Leroy Anderson's "Sarabande" as an encore.

BAN ON MISSILE NEWS LIFTED

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—The commander of the missile test center Tuesday removed restrictions on news coverage enforced 24 hours earlier.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates said he was satisfied a news service did not intentionally violate an agreement by pinpointing the date of a space probe.

In a telegram to Lyle Wilson, vice president of United Press International in Washington, Yates said:

"I am happy to receive your assurance that in consideration of the source of UPI's information, UPI did not violate the existing agreements. May I assure you my intentions are to continue to co-operate with the press to ensure the most objective reporting to the public of our military activities . . ."

Yates said his action was the result of a UPI story last Saturday which said the U.S. would try to send a rocket to the vicinity of the planet Venus and into orbit about the sun. The Washington-datelined story said the launching would be Tuesday. The shot since has been postponed for technical reasons.

Yates said UPI violated an agreement not to release the launch date after he had told the press about it. However, UPI contended the story was based on information received from non-military sources in Washington.

Earlier, Yates received a telegram from Wilson, who said the UPI story was obtained from independent sources and "was in no way related to any agreement you had with newsmen in your area."

Wilson continued: "We will not for a moment submit to nor permit long to endure your interference in news coverage here in Washington."

Private Plane, Jet Hit In Air

. . . At Least 1 Dead

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP) — An Air Force jet and a private plane collided in flight 4 miles south of here Tuesday, killing a St. Cloud, Minn., advertising man.

The pilot of the jet, Capt. William Meckum, 31, of the Wyoming Air National Guard, parachuted safely.

The F86L jet plummeted into the middle of an auto racing track a few hundred yards from U.S. 85-87. Flaming debris and live ammunition were scattered around the track.

The wings and the cockpit of the private plane were tangled in a power transmission line sheared by the craft as it fell.

Lewis' body was found on the crest of a small hill some distance from the wreckage.

Scattered near the cockpit were some brightly-wrapped Christmas presents.

$7.4 Million Lincoln Interstate Highway Access Connection Outlined For Public

By Virgil Falloon

The proposed $7.4 million Interstate Highway access connection to downtown Lincoln was explained to Lincoln citizens Tuesday afternoon in an informational meeting conducted by federal and state highway officials.

More than 100 persons, including Hayward district residents, businessmen, city officials, and other groups, crowded into the City Council chambers set with maps, microphones and recording equipment.

City Engineer Carl Fisher outlined the general route using 9th and 10th as one-way pair, crossing the Burlington tracks on elevated structures, skirting the west edge of the Hayward school area, crossing Oak Lake Park's east lake, and connecting with the 7th and Oak interchange.

9 Routes Studied

State Planning Engineer John Hossack said 9 alternate routes were studied, including traffic, cost, and engineering details, before the proposed route was selected.

"It was selected after careful analysis, not on any snap judgment," Hossack emphasized.

He listed these factors in its selection:

—While not the cheapest route by 3%, it was determined to be the best route from the point of road users' costs.

—An alternate plan crossing between the Oak Park lakes rather than across the east lake would have added one-quarter mile to the connecting route from the Cornhusker Hwy. Similarly, a route west of the lakes would have added nearly one mile and other complications.

—The route permits satisfactory treatment of Cornhusker Hwy. traffic at 11th while a more eastern route would undesireably have pushed access further east to 14th.

—The route provides for future construction of an alternate route west of 9th as requested by the city.

—It does "minimum damage" to the Hayward School residential area. The district will not be bisected and probably only 15 homes will be lost.

In detailing the crossing of East Oak Lake, Hossack said bridges will be used at the banks with a fill in the middle, thus permitting "free circulation of boat traffic around the lake."

Officials were asked direct questions concerning any compensation for damages to or loss of Oak Lake Park because of Interstate construction.

Albert C. Spann of the Federal Bureau of Roads said: "We always pay for any right-of-way taken. The city will be paid just compensation for the lake."

State Engineer Roy L. Cochran added: "The compensation paid the city will be of the same kind as paid any other property owner in damages as provided by law."

Hayward School area residents questioned state engineering officials concerning properties that would be affected by the access connection.

Dirt, Beer Cans

One resident, whose property would not be taken by the route, said the value of his home would be reduced 50% because of "nearby mountains of dirt" and "motorists throwing beer cans from the elevated structure into his yard."

"What are you going to do about that?" he demanded. There was no immediate answer from hearing officials.

Other officials attending the hearing were O. J. Eidmann, federal bureau engineer; Henry Schlitt, deputy state engineer; Steve Gilbert, state planning engineer, and W. H. Mengel, right-of-way engineer.

Other highlights of the hearing:

—Highway 77 will be relocated in part onto the Interstate Highway.

—The city's 10th Street Viaduct and No. 10th route would be preserved and connected by an underpass to No. 9th to provide alternate traffic routes.

—In the block between 9th and 10th, T and U, only a part of the University of Nebraska parking lot will be taken. Between U and V, most of the block will be acquired. In the block between X and Y and west of 7th, most of the property will be taken as will be between W and X, 7th and 8th.

—Additional right-of-way on No. 9th will be required and the Missouri Pacific depot and trackage will probably be removed.

—The state-proposed access route was selected after many conferences with city officials, City Planning Commission personnel, Harland Bartholomew & Associates, consulting city planners to Lincoln, and George Barton, consulting traffic engineer to Lincoln.

County Meets Cochran To Protest Funds Denial

By Del Harding

The County Board will meet with State Engineer Roy Cochran Dec. 22 to protest a recently-announced state policy which will reportedly deny Lancaster County any federal aid secondary road funds for ar least several years.

The state claims Lancaster County has "overspent" its allotment of such funds during the last 5 years and must now allow scheduled future allotments to be used to pay back the "surplus" funds which it contends the county received.

County Engineer Louis Weaver has said the county was given funds not used by other counties in addition to its regular allotment but said state officials did not say at the time that these extra funds would have to be repaid from future allotments.

Would Revert

Weaver has said the extra funds would have reverted to the federal government if other counties had not used them.

He estimated Lancaster County has received a total of about $500,000 in such funds during the last 5 years over and above regular yearly allotments.

The board Tuesday discussed the possibility of banding with 8 other Nebraska counties and taking legal action in an attempt to assure they all will receive their allotments, but the board took no action on this proposal.

The 8 other counties also reportedly will be denied any federal aid secondary road funds until they pay back "surplus" money they received.

Feds: 'It's Your Fight'

Board Chairman Rollin Bailey said he has been unable to find out what the federal law is on the subject and whether the state has the power to withhold the county's federal allotment. He said "the federal boys" told him "it's your fight." He declined to name with whom he had discussed the matter.

Bailey said he also has been unable to find out just where the money which normally would go to Lancaster County will be spent.

Weaver has said he understands it will be used on Douglas County road projects.

County Atty. Elmer Scheele told the board his off-hand opinion was that the state does not have to give counties the excess funds but that regular allocations should not be cut off.

Board Backs Nov. 18 Vote For City-County Building

The County Board informally agreed Tuesday to put a proposal to build a city-county building on the ballot next Nov. 18.

The City Council had discussed the matter with the board members Monday and the council had also informally agreed to place the proposal on the general election ballot.

Both bodies are expected to formally pass resolutions to that effect soon.

Board members Tuesday expressed hopes that if it is legally possible the proposed location of the city-county building will be submitted to the voters on the same ballot.

3 In May

At the joint board-council meeting informal agreement had been reached to place the following 3 issues on the May 10 primary ballot: whether to use inheritance tax funds now on hand to build a convalescent care hospital for county welfare patients, whether to create a Salt-Wahoo Watershed District, and whether to approve a bond issue for improvement of Lincoln parks.

Bailey said Tuesday he believed the parks issue could hurt chances of voter-approval of a city-county building, but said the board must co-operate with the council on the projects.

Bailey also said he would not be surprised if the county's medical advisory committee might recommend the hospital issue be taken off the May ballot for fear that it would be defeated if voted on along with two other issues.

Board 'Sorry,' But Man Still Pays Penalty

The County Board expressed sympathy Tuesday to a Lincoln man who complained that state penalties for failure to list stocks on personal property tax returns are excessive, but the board told him it must follow the law in such cases.

Norman Hill of Lincoln told the board that a friend filled out his personal property tax return last spring and unintentionally failed to list certain shares of stock which Hill owned. Hill said he was teaching in the British Isles at the time and that the omission was inadvertent.

Hill protested that he was assessed not only the regular $43.12 tax which was due on the shares of stock but also had a penalty tax of $836.10 added to this for failing to list them on his return. He said he believed this penalty, which was provided by the last State Legislature, was excessive.

County Assessor Arthur Davis said he had cut Hill's penalty payment to $418.05 in accordance with an "innocent mistake" provision of the law, but that was the best he could do for him.

A Sensible Ballot

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

After a lengthy discussion of the matter, the City Council and County Board of Commissioners came up with what should be an acceptable solution to the May 10 ballot priority problem. With a host of possible issues to go on the ballot, the two governmental units decided on three issues—a $3,250,000 park bond program, the Salt-Wahoo Watershed flood control and recreation program and the new county geriatrics unit.

This actually brings to four the total number of local issues that will be faced by voters along with the various candidates for public office on the state and local level. There will be no city or county officials elected in 1960. The fourth ballot issue, on by way of a petition movement, will be a plan for district representation of the city on the City Council. The big thing now is that voters understand everything they will be asked to make a decision on. If they do, there is no reason to believe that the park bonds, Salt-Wahoo and the geriatrics unit will not be carried.

Understanding The Issues

The district representation plan can hardly be predicted as to outcome for there is no way of telling how the voters feel about this subject. Also, it is a controversial subject even if fully understood by everyone. You can know all the facts about district representation and be either for or against it, depending upon your own idea of what constitutes good government.

But if the other three issues are understood, you would have to dig pretty deep for a reason for opposing them. If you simply don't want any more taxes for any reason, then you would vote against the park bonds for they will call for a levy possibly as high as 1.60 mills or perhaps as low as 1.50 mills. The final actual levy depends upon the interest rate obtained and the city's total valuation.

But if you don't want this additional tax, you also don't want a good park system. You don't want another golf course or three more swimming pools, either, because those things are a part of the $3,250,000 program. What you would want, in voting against the park bonds, is a park system that has been inadequate in size and facilities for as long as any of us can remember. You want roads that can't be traveled in bad weather, potentially beautiful park settings left in a second-rate condition, a shortage of picnicking facilities, inferior playground and recreation areas, inadequate buildings, etc.

Even being against an increase in taxes would not bother you on the Salt-Wahoo program if things are worked out as is now anticipated. It is hoped that before a vote is taken, a definite plan can be devised whereby voters' approval of the flood control and recreation program would mean the end of Sanitary District 1, the only flood control agency now in formal existence in this area.

But the area in which the district is authorized to work and levy a tax is also completely within the larger area that Salt-Wahoo will encompass. Thus, the two agencies would be duplicating one another if the district were not absolved. There should be no district opposition to this as it will permit a much more effective and widespread program. Also, there is no reason that present district officials cannot be very well utilized in the new organization.

If this development or merger takes place, Salt-Wahoo would bring about a slight reduction in taxes — from the current district levy of 1 mill to its maximum authorized levy of ¾ of a mill. Even if it were a ¾ of a mill increase in taxes, Salt-Wahoo would offer sufficient benefits to make it more than worthwhile.

But with a tax reduction, it is a bargain no sensible voter would want to pass up. One flood in any of the valleys within the watershed would cause damages far in excess of what this program will cost on the local level. Tax opposition is no objection to the county geriatrics unit, either, as the money to build this unit is already in the county's inheritance tax fund. All the county will be asking for is authority to spend the money and the program they have outlined is a good one. It should permit savings of welfare funds and will bring about much better care for county welfare patients in need of varying degrees of medical attention.

Geriatrics Proposal

The geriatrics unit would also provide much needed new City-County Health Department facilities, thus freeing the present Municipal Building quarters for expansion into a combined city-county jail and law-enforcement headquarters. As worthy as all these programs are and as little as the cost will be in new tax money, the entire program does not seem to be too big a pill for the public to swallow at one election.

"Population Control? I'll Give You Population Control"

Benson Stands Firm

The administration of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has brought no joy to farming nor healing to its economy. But he is both a dedicated and a diligent exponent of established Republican agricultural principles.

It was, therefore, the height of impropriety for National GOP Chairman Thruston Morton to ask him to resign. And it was to the credit of Benson that he flatly rejected the suggestion.

It would have been suitable for Morton to have declared for a reform in his party's thinking regarding agriculture, for its best efforts to demolish the parity principle, to eliminate surpluses and to reduce the public cost of the farm program without economic death to the farmer have failed palpably, perhaps tragically. But tacitly to continue a loyalty to principles so faithfully applied by Mr. Benson and then to ask him to resign is at once a misleading public tactic and a request to Benson to take personal guilt and commit political suicide as a convenience to worried but unrepentant Republican candidates.

It would be a bemused public which could believe that Mr. Benson holds views inimical to the conviction of his party, and equally bemused to believe that the removal of Benson would cure what ails the party's program. Historically, the Republican party has been cold to farm relief. It allowed agriculture to fall to a modern all time low in the '20's without one substantial remedy. It implacably resisted the rehabilitating agencies of the Roosevelt years and when returned to power in 1952 its abiding distaste for administered agriculture took form in the Benson administration.

There would be no public relief in the political slaying of Benson by a party that has given no sign of abandoning the principles he has so dutifully set in motion. There would only be an effort to divert the public spleen against a person and by discrediting him save an unrepentant party's hide.

Remembering The Good Things

Luncheons such as the one this week honoring city and county employes who have worked for their respective subdivisions for 40 years or more are a good thing for the community. In the confusion and hurry of everyday living, the good side of government and the people in it are too often forgotten. It is human nature to dwell more upon those things which we lack but want rather than upon those things which we have achieved.

Thus, we do not find ourselves thinking about the fact that Theo. Berg who spent 53 years in government service is largely responsible for the city's modern and mechanized accounting system. We have that system so we go on to think about ways of improving it, and in the process are critical of public officials who do not give us the improvement we want.

We complained some years ago when the city had a water shortage. But now that we have whipped that problem, we have forgotten about it and moved into consideration and criticism of such things as sewers and streets. This isn't necessarily wrong because the future is built on what we have yet to accomplish, not what we have done in the past. In fact, the day we have pride without anxiety and some disillusionment—that is the day we will start slipping backwards.

But there is one other essential ingredient of progress and that is confidence. We have to believe in ourselves and we have to believe and trust in others. And men like Mr. Berg and the others honored at the special luncheon give us the confidence we need. You can find more of it, too, by thinking of the fact that 20 years from today, there will be another luncheon and the honored guests will be many of those public officials who attended this last one as spectators.

The Civic Christmas Tree

The evergreen tree always has held a special place in the opinion of men. Something like the idealized mail carrier who goes about his appointed rounds no matter what the weather or state of public mind, the evergreen refuses to retreat from its greenness, braving the winter blasts and the summer heat alike with quiet but unshakeable resolve.

Other trees are more like the human race, always making concessions for survival.

Perhaps that is why the evergreen has outdistanced all other plants as an accompaniment of Christmas, whose character is such that neither time nor challenge can change it a whit. Men find comfort and reassurance in that.

The decorated evergreen and later the lighted evergreen as a Christmas tree is a development of the misty past and was and still is largely identified with the home and the church. But in modern times it has emerged as an aspect of community life.

The New York Times credits Pasadena, California, with the first civic Christmas tree in the United States. In 1909 that city lighted a living tree high above the town on Mount Wilson. It was a pretty and thought-provoking sight standing out alone high atop the mountain.

In 1912 New York City and Boston followed suit erecting beautiful community trees, Boston choosing its historic Commons for the site. Two years later Philadelphia did likewise. Now almost every town has its tree.

The idea of a lighted tree occurred to Martin Luther. To the usual ornaments he added candles as a further delight for children. The safer, more brilliant, colored electric lights are the only modern day improvement. And it is a recent one, for many a Nebraska gray head can remember the thrill of the lighting of the candles which was a matter of lustrous beauty, but one that called for intense precautions.

Promoter Defends Prize Solicitations

EDITOR'S NOTE — While Drew Pearson is in Europe, Asia and Africa interviewing in advance the leaders of the 11 countries Eisenhower is visiting, the domestic scene is being covered by his assistant, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — Of all the TV giveaway shows, none is more munificent than "The Price is Right," sponsored by the soap-making Lever Brothers. But some sources close to the show suggest that the prices merchants pay for plugs aren't right.

This popular program hands out merchandise to the best guessers five days a week on the NBC-TV network. This is climaxed by a grand giveaway on Wednesday nights when the most spectacular goods are given away in color.

The merchandise is collected by Richard S. Robbins Co. and stored at Henry Schumer's warehouse in Manhattan. It has been widely reported that the producers, Goodson and Todman, accept both cash and extra merchandise for mentioning the brand names of the goods they give away. Only a couple weeks ago, the manufacturer of a bathroom scale tried to get his product included in the giveaway "showcase." He offered to pay $6,000 for the privilege but was told it would cost him $8,000. This would pay for four separate plugs, or "exposures" as the TV trade calls them, on the nighttime show.

☆ ☆ ☆

Goodson said he had nothing to hide; I could ask him anything; I could examine the Goodson-Todman books.

Goodson described "The Price Is Right" as a "television trade fair" which features merchandise.

"The stars are the merchandise," he said, explaining it would be impossible to feature goods and let the panel guess the prices without mentioning the brand names.

The show offered three categories of prizes, he said. First were the spectaculars like yachts, swimming pools, furnished homes, and sable coats. The shows purchased these at a discount, he said.

When I asked the size of the discount, he said the show might pay $7,000 for a $10,000 airplane or $10,000 for a $20,000 home. For U.S. Steel stock, he added, they paid the full market price.

The second category consisted of moderate-priced items like automobiles, pianos, television sets, and refrigerators which were given free in return for the plugs. The third category included the cheaper items, like cameras and radios, which Goodson admitted would come to the show accompanied with cash.

He argued it would be unfair to give a camera manufacturer the same free advertising as an automobile manufacturer for no more than a cheap camera. The cash collected from the small manufacturers, he said, went to help pay for the expensive items. He claimed the balance sheet would show that "The Price Is Right" paid out more for gifts than it made up in side payments.

DORIS FLEESON

Rockefeller Farm Statement Arid

MINNEAPOLIS — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has made a doggedly earnest and sometimes sensible speech on farm policy, its disasters and complexities, in a statistical-report style which rendered the effort politically arid.

At worst it was banal — and how. At best it showed a disposition not to look back at past errors but to get going on solutions for the present anarchy in so important a segment of the economy.

Being the work of too many political hands — and it is admitted that a committee put it into final form —it has a gimmick. This is "stabilization supports" — which a hasty reading suggests are a form of disaster insurance or social security for farm families such as the city wage earners now enjoy.

☆ ☆ ☆

The governor will find this kind of prose almost as irresistible to the wits as the Eisenhower rhetoric. For example, he actually was given this line to deliver: "The chief problem of the low-income farmers is poverty." Connoisseurs of political speeches began promptly to quarrel over who wrote the classic which sprang instantly to their minds. It was? "When people are out of work unemployment results." The author: Calvin Coolidge.

Such stuff cannot be successful in the hustings. If the New York governor wants to convince people that he ought to be their president, he will have to find some better way to tell them what is on his mind — and heart.

For a politician, it is probably always a mistake to approach any group strange to him with readymade solutions for problems they live and die with. What they want is assurances that they as people will not be forgotten in any solution arrived at — after, of course, they have had the wit and wisdom to elect the man addressing them.

☆ ☆ ☆

The governor's reception so far has been warm but not overpowering. Again and again the question is put to him: "Are you a candidate? Will you run?" Under such pressure he has been inching his announcement closer and closer to the new year. He had hoped to make it much later than that.

Probably he has realized that the voters don't listen too hard to the unavowed candidates.

The party people must and do, but they are not Rockefeller's strength in the duel with Vice President Richard Nixon for which he is preparing himself.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Quiet Urgency Moves Nehru

ATHENS — If Prime Minister Nehru is at all disturbed by the attacks on him at home and by the threat of further Chinese aggression on India's northern frontier, he shows not the slightest sign of it. In an hour's talk with this reporter just before leaving New Delhi with the press caravan accompanying President Eisenhower, he ranged over a wide variety of topics, speaking with the brilliance and the subtlety that are his hallmark.

Nehru talked at length about the nature of the border on the northeast and northwest frontiers. It is the wildest and most isolated country and now the impenetrable silence of winter has set in, with mountain passes at 12,000 feet and the peaks at 14,000 feet or above shut away for many months.

"It is in a deepfreeze just now," Nehru says, smiling a little as he uses this American expression.

While he would not discuss directly the military or political future of the border dispute with China, and according to all reports he was reticent on this score even in his conversations with President Eisenhower, he gave the impression of wanting to believe that the dispute itself is in the deepfreeze. With the word "wonderful" he praised the tact with which Mr. Eisenhower, in all his public statements in New Delhi, avoided any apparent involvement in India's crisis.

☆ ☆ ☆

Nehru leaves no doubt that the last offer made by Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai is unacceptable. That was for both sides to withdraw from the line presently claimed by the Chinese so that a no man's land of approximately 30 miles would be left the opposing forces.

"That would, of course mean that we would surrender all the checkposts that we have established," he said. "That we could not do."

What to do about the Chinese incursions across the border and particularly the road they have built on the northwest frontier between Tibet and Sinkiang, which at several points crosses Indian territory? Nehru gives no prescription beyond indicating that the buildup of strength on these remote frontiers, which never really have been demarcated, together with the work to bring the wild tribesmen of the northeast frontier within the Indian framework, must be accelerated.

"Perhaps we could have moved faster, perhaps we could have done more." This is his only concession to his critics. So much must be done in India — that is the theme he returns to. And he makes no secret of the massive assistance in long-term credits tha India must have if the third five-year plan is to be a success. These credits, according to Nehru, must be for 15 or 20 years—two to three years would be of no use — for capital investment. He is hopeful that a plan now under discussion for a commission of German, British and American bankers to pass on India's needs and recommend a program for private and government participation will go through. A prominent British banker, Sir Oliver Franks, was, according to Nehru, already signified his willingness to serve on such a commission. John J. McCloy of the Chase-Manhattan Bank in New York is suggested as the American member, but McCloy is still to be heard from.

There is a sense of quiet urgency in this discussion. India cannot stand still.

On the subject of the Krhushchev - Eisenhower talks, Nehru spoke with warmth. He believes that Khrushchev is just as genuinely desirous — for his own purposes — of peace as is Mr. Eisenhower. And he belives, too, that the Soviet premier is making every effort to restrain Red China and quiet the dispute with India.

"When Mr. Khrushchev was here four years ago," Nehru said, "he spoke to me about America and Great Britain. He said you're friends with them. Why can't you help me to get together with them. Then he went off to Burma and there something angered him and he delivered an attack on British imperialism.

"When he came back here I ventured to suggest that this was not the way to be friendly, that this would, in fact, offend every British citizen. I have never forgotten what he said to me in reply:

" 'You must know that we have lived in a state of siege for 40 years and we cannot be insulted.' "

In Nehru's view Khrushchev desires to lift this siege and give his people some of the rewards of life for which they so deeply long.

This, he feels, is at the heart of Khrushchev's desire for peace. A war between China and India would destroy all his hopes.

Grain Prices

Odell, Neb.

Before Franklin Roosevelt was president, the big bosses held corn prices down to 10 cents a bushel and wheat prices to 23 cents a bushel. The prices were held down until farmers were forced to sell at that price to pay their expenses. After all the grain was marketed, then prices were raised to as much as $1.25 a bushel and some of the big fellows made millions. After Mr. Roosevelt was elected, he loaned farmers 44 cents a bushel so farmers could pay the expenses of farming and hold their grain until prices went up.

Do city people know what it costs to raise grain and the work that goes into it? First a field is plowed, then disked. Next time they harrow and then sow the seed. The ripe grain must be cut, hauled to granaries and taken to market. Often a farmer has nothing left after the grain is sold.

Beatrice, Neb.

This is in regard to the recent letter signed "Worried," concerning the squirrels in his yard. In the first place, it seems too bad he can't just enjoy the frisky little creatures. For years we have fed numerous squirrels and birds in our yard, and everyone has always gotten along fine. There is nothing more pleasant and engaging to watch than baby squirrels at play. Secondly, squirrels have a definite place in Nature's plan: untold numbers of trees across our land are there because of the squirrels' habit of burying and storing nuts and seeds, some in excess of their needs, which sprout into valuable trees.

Thirdly, if "Worried" feels it absolutely necessary to trap the squirrels, then the kind thing to do would be to use a trap which doesn't hurt the animal, and then take the squirrels to a timbered area in the countryside and release them to enjoy their lives a little longer.

On The Loose

Hastings, Neb.

It is a strange thing that the chairwoman of the Republican State Committee would want to refer to the days of Coolidge and Herbert Hoover and the deplorable condition in which the Republican party had left this nation when Franklin D. Roosevelt became president!

Mr. Horace Davis superbly painted the picture which Mr. Roosevelt found. He could have asked the chairwoman, Mrs. Donald, a very embarrassing question on who it was that abolished price controls. The Democratic party had the wolves of inflation chained to a price control law. But Republicans didn't like to have the wolves chained. They passed a repeal act of the price control law and President Harry Truman vetoed it. The Republican Congress then passed the repeal bill over Truman's head and turned the inflationary wolves loose, and they have been loose ever since. They are more rapacious now than ever. Having looted about everything to be looted they are now quarreling among themselves about the loot.

Who was it other than Sen. Wherry who went up and down this state denouncing price controls and urging that they be banished? And did not Carl Curtis, then a Fifth District congressman, vote to repeal the price control law and turn the hungry wolves loose? Who then is responsible for the looting game now being played? The Republican party is responsible and no one else.

Retrospection

Polk, Neb.

Here is an item which might be used for The Star's "Today's Chuckle":

Two fools had cars they thought perfection. They met one day at an intersection. They tooted their horns, and made a connection. A squad car came and made an inspection. The ambulance came and made a collection. All that's left is a recollection, and two less votes at the next election.

GI, Linemen End Dispute

The City of Grand Island and a group of city power linemen have reached an out-of-court settlement in a wage dispute which had reached the supreme court.

Both sides notified the supreme court Tuesday that they had agreed to dismiss the case, which started in 1958 when they failed to reach agreement in a claim for higher wages.

The linemen asked for wages "comprable" to those paid to others doing the same kind of work in "the same labor market area."

The State Court of Industrial Relations on May 18, 1959, fixed the wage rates for linemen at ranging from $420 for foreman to $330 for second-class lineman. The workers maintained the prevailing wage ranged from $441 for foremen to $351 for second class linemen, and appealed to the supreme court.

The linemen were Raymond Dibbern, John Eirick, Edgar Felske, Ernest Gifford, Melvin Hicken, Henry Jensen, Ernest Matthiesen, Donald Muhs, John Phelps, Arnold C. Prorock, Nick Ripari, Loyal Ruhl, Emiel Runge, Art Schmidt, H. L. Simpson and Kenneth Yocom.

Named as defendants were Mayor Frank D. Ryder, and Councilmen Harry J. Voss, Robert Sorensen, Lyman M. Campbell, H. Joseph Russell, Frank Pepper, Marion I. Zachry, William A. Gross, and George H. Clayton, and utilities commissioner Clarence W. Burdick.

What will this year of the Big Turn do to your new car investment?

THE YEAR of the BIG TURN has begun.

Its significance should not be underestimated by anyone who plans to buy a 1960 automobile.

For the BIG TURN is more than the about-face the biggest car manufacturers were forced to make as a result of Rambler's outstanding sales success.

More than the end of the big car size and horsepower race.

More than the introduction of imitations of Rambler.

More than the reduced number of big car makes and models.

The BIG TURN not only marks the beginning of the decline of big cars, it also casts the shadow of early obsolescence over any 1960 automobile built with old-fashioned, separate, bolted body and frame.

Consider this. A little over two years ago, Rambler was the only American car built with modern, aircraft-type Single Unit Construction*. All welded, it is stronger, permanently rattleproof.

Now, for 1960, most American cars boast of full or partial unit construction.

It is only a matter of time until all cars will be built this better, modern way.

What then will happen to the resale value of cars built the old way?

As to Rambler's resale value, there is no question.

Both nationwide Official Used Car Guides show Rambler has the highest resale value of any low-priced car.

Since the introduction of the new U. S. small cars, Rambler popularity has soared.

At two auto shows where people could compare all makes side by side, surveys showed Rambler led all cars, big and small, in buying preference. At a third, Rambler was second only to the largest selling car.

Because people see in Rambler the New Standard of Basic Excellence . . . the new yardstick by which car values are now being judged.

What is this New Standard of Basic Excellence? How can you be sure to make the safest car investment? What should car buyers look for?

First, look for the 100% Single Unit Construction you get in Rambler. Not old-fashioned bolted construction. Only thus can you be sure your 1960 car will not be obsolete in a year or two.

Look for "Deep-Dip" Rustproofing*. Most cars get only surface spraying which leaves vital interior steel unprotected. A few get "shallow dip." Only Rambler is actually submerged to the roof in rustproofing primer paint.

Look for true six-passenger room—ease of entrance. See that only Rambler gives you the Best of Both: big car room and comfort for six 6-footers, plus small car economy and handling ease.

Look for proved economy. Rambler's is certified by 25 billion owner-driven miles, as well as by official Mobilgas Economy Run and NASCAR records.

Look for a full choice of models, not just one or two. Rambler offers you the world's widest choice of Compact* cars, including 16 station wagon models.

Look for quality of materials and workmanship. Compare Rambler's careful craftsmanship with cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

Look at prices. Rambler saves on every model. At least $238 on 6-cylinder economy wagons, for example.

In this year of the BIG TURN, with so many imitators of Rambler on the market, it is more important than ever to compare. To be sure you are making the wisest, safest car investment—no matter which car you are thinking of buying—it should be measured against Rambler, the New Standard of Basic Excellence. Be fair to yourself—protect your new car investment. See your Rambler dealer today!

The 1960 Rambler has been built to meet the public's specific needs in a motor car—to give the ideal balance of qualities that are most useful to the user:

- Highest quality ideally balanced with lowest prices and best resale value.
- Fine performance ideally balanced with top economy, proved by 10 years and 25 billion owner-driven miles.
- Big car comfort ideally balanced with small car handling ease.
- Greater strength and durability ideally balanced with less bulk and weight due to Single Unit Construction.
- Smart modern styling ideally balanced with spacious, easy-to-enter interiors.
- Plus exclusive "Deep-Dip" Rustproofing . . . widest choice of compact models . . . smoother "Deep-Coil" Ride . . . finest heating, ventilating and air conditioning . . . reclining seats . . . adjustable headrests and many other exclusive luxury features.

That is why the runaway compact car success of 1960 is RAMBLER—the originator and world's largest builder of compact cars.

4th Meadow Lane School Unit Eyed

By Gerry Deal

Plans for the addition of a 4th unit to Meadow Lane Elementary School at 72nd and Vine were initiated by the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday, upon the recommendation of Supt. Steven Watkins.

Watkins reported that the recent upsurge in home building in the area east of the school from Vine to Holdrege will result in an overcrowding of the present facilities, which were believed to have been adequate earlier this year.

Watkins pointed out that 300 new homes will be completed in this area within the immediate future and an additional 350 homes are tentatively planned for the area east of Eastborough from Vine to O.

880 Capacity

The new unit will provide for a capacity of 880, an increase of 220 over the present facilities. Meadow Lane has a present enrollment of 542.

The board directed the architectural committee to secure an architect to begin preliminary work.

Might Be Crowded

Watkins said that all other areas in the city have adequate school facilities at the present time, but an additional 100 homes in the Calvert School area might create an overcrowded situation.

Three tracts of land owned by the Lincoln Public Schools were brought to the board's attention for possible sale, but no action was taken.

They include: Ballard Field, 64th and Kearney, one square block of ground which Watkins noted was not of any use as a school property; the east 8 acres of the Mickle School site between 69th and 70th and Huntington and St. Paul, and 7 acres of the Morley tract in Park Manor.

Survey Shows Kids Study Average 1-2 Hours At Home

Results of homework surveys taken at Irving Junior High School indicate that the majority of Irving students spend from one to 2 hours each night on homework, and girls study more than boys.

The report on the survey, based on a questionnaire sent out to the students' parents, was presented to the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday.

The study also indicated that some students study as much as 4 hours a night while others spend as little as 15 minutes.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent, pointed out that in many cases this variation in study time is on the same assignment, indicating the differences in study habits of individuals.

Although no comparison was made with this study and the grades of these students, Dr. Watkins noted that no doubt there are as many good students spending 4 hours on homework as there are those for whom the work is difficult.

He said that the curriculum council will study this report and will later make a more-detailed study of home study practices from a city-wide survey.

Ask Court To See New Evidence In Rail Tax Appeal

The Attorney General's office Tuesday asked the Supreme Court to admit new evidence in the tax assessment appeal of the Chicago and North Western Railway Co.

Assistant Attorney General H. G. Hamilton asked that the court admit an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission dated July 6, 1959, denying the railroad's application to abandon 120 miles of track between Scribner and Oakdale.

Hamilton said the railroad had contended in its assessment argument before the State Board of Equalization that the 120 miles of road was "junk" and its only value that of salvage.

The ICC order which Hamilton asked to be introduced said the salvage value of the section was $338,596.

Hamilton did not say how the railroad's contention affected either the calculations of the railroad or the State Board of Equalization.

UP Files Reply Brief In Assessment Appeal

The Union Pacific Railroad Company Tuesday filed a reply brief in the State from the State Board of Equalization's assessment on its property this year.

The Union Pacific contends the state has used an arbitrary figure in arriving at the value of its property, and that the result is an overassessment of its property which is not in accord with the law and constitution.

T. R. Pansing Elected New Chest Head

Lincoln Atty. Thomas R. Pansing was elected president of the Lincoln Community Chest at a board of directors meeting Tuesday.

He succeeds James N. Ackerman, 1959 president.

Pansing served a term on the Chest board as first vice president during the past year, and was general chairman of the United Campaign in 1958.

Other newly-elected officers are Gene C. Eaton, first vice president; Mrs. Glenn Yaussi, 2nd vice president; Herbert C. Henderson, secretary, and Eugene K. Reece, treasurer.

Organization of the Chest for 1960 will be completed at the annual meeting in January when 6 new executive committee members and 11 new board members will be named.

2 Pen Escapees Get Extra Years

Two State Penitentiary inmates who escaped Aug. 11 but were recaptured two days later in Iowa both were sentenced to an additional two years in prison Tuesday by Lancaster District Judge Paul White.

Richard Foley, 33, and Charles H. Lawson, 28, both had pleaded guilty to escaping and to stealing a man's car the same night.

They will serve the remainder of their present sentences plus the new two-year terms.

things and ride Belshazzar and not worry about the furniture.

Five Children

And if you like to do things with people your own age, I'm sure you'll like it up here. We have five children of our own and at Christmas time there is always a bunch of cousins, too. Our own children are:

Gigi, (she's the oldest, and her real name isn't Gigi—it's Virginia)

(Ann (who has such a short name we couldn't make it any shorter)

Bunny (Bunny's real name is Ruth, like mine)

Franklin (whose real name is Franklin)

Ned ("Ned" is short—very short—for Nelson Edman)

So you'll be certain to find someone your own age to do things with.

But now let's say it's Christmas morning. The tree is over there by the window, with the presents beneath it and its branches loaded down with warm-colored lights, candy canes, ornaments, and the smallest gifts.

Stockings for Everybody

And here in front of the enormous fireplace are the stockings, one for every child and cousin and, of course, one for you. The presents have to wait until after breakfast, but the stockings are for now.

Our children think breakfast takes forever on Christmas morning. Never do the grownups eat so much. They sit around and drink cup after cup of coffee, and they lean back and talk about how long it's been since they were all together, and they even waste precious minutes looking out over the valley and saying what a lovely day it is.

But then comes the wonderful moment when finally they're through and everyone goes back into the living room to open the presents.

It takes a long time because everyone wants to see what everyone else has. But finally the very last package is opened. The floor is a heap of paper and ribbons and the grownups are saying, as they did last year, that it's really too much and next year they will have to cut down.

Time for the Story

And now comes time for the Christmas story. The children's father opens the Bible to the second chapter of the Book of Luke.

When he begins to read the room is suddenly still, with a special stillness that it has only on Christmas morning. We are very quiet as we listen again to the wonderful story:

"And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed . . . And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up . . . out of the city of Nazareth . . . unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem . . . to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child . . .

"And she brought her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

"And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them . . .

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

Saved from What?

Now here is the question I wanted to ask you: Is this the very beginning of the Christmas story? Or does it sound as though we had started right in the middle of it?

The angel called this Baby a Saviour—that is, one who saves. If you fell through the ice when you are skating and a man rushed up to pull you from the water, that man would be your saviour. But if this Baby was a Saviour, what was he to save us from? It sounds as if there were a lot more to the story.

What is the whole Christmas story? It's really much to long to tell now, when we have all the ribbons and boxes to pick up and Christmas dinner to fix. Besides, the best stories aren't told all at once.

Just Before Bed

There's only one thing to do. We'll just have to pretend that you're spending the whole week with us. Then every night, at bedtime, I can tell you a little more of the Christmas story, starting from the very beginning.

When story time comes each evening, it will be past Ned's bedtime, of course. But Ann and Bunny and Gigi and Franklin will pile onto the bed with you to listen. I've told them the story dozens and dozens of times, but they never get tired of hearing it.

You see, this is the most exciting story that ever happened.

Iraqi Nationalists Can Count On Help From King Hussein

London (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan said his troops would march to Baghdad if Iraqi Nationalists ever requested help against communist pressure.

He added he had given this assurance to British government officials he visited—including Prime Minister Macmillan—on his month's holiday here.

And, the handsome 24 year old king told a news conference "our army is in perfect condition."

Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq led the revolt that overthrew King Faisal, Hussein's cousin. Faisal was killed by the rebels. Since then Jordan broadcasts have accused Kassem of collaborating with the Iraqi communists.

'Many Sensational Medical Reports Premature'—Dr. Andrews Observes

Mobile, Ala. — "Many of the sensational medical reports carried in newspapers and magazines appear premature and are over-emphasized," Dr. Clayton F. Andrews stated here.

The Lincoln surgeon made the observation in a talk he made while visiting Mobile in connection with his duties as imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Dr. Andrews said that many so-called miracle drugs haven't been proven.

He indicated that people read about drugs that are still in the study stage and rush to the drug store in an attempt to buy them.

"Progress reports on new medicines and drugs should not be accepted by the public as final or proven," he added.

In regard to the work of the Shriners for crippled children, Dr. Andrews noted that in the past 37 years, they have taken care of more than 110,000 crippled children without regard to race, creed or color.

He listed 3 conditions under which hospitals accept children:

—They must be unable to pay for treatment.

—They must be under 15 years of age.

—Their condition must be such that it can be cured or materially improved.

Each Shriner, he said, pays $5 annually toward the expense of maintaining the hospitals, which have over 1,000 patients under treatment at all times.

Donations and wills account for additional hospital funds, Dr. Andrrews said; and he noted that the total annual cost for care of patients and maintaining facilities is between $5 and $6 million.

VA Employe Award Goes To W. S. Staberg

Wilbur S. Staberg Tuesday was named the outstanding employe of the Veterans Administration office for his service to veterans.

The award, given by the VFW, was presented to Staberg by Paul A. Harmon, senior vice commander of the VFW Department of Nebraska from Omaha.

Staberg has been employed in the Lincoln office since 1945. He started out as a clerk in the finance division and has been chief of the operations department for the last 8 years. He is a lifelong Lincoln resident and served 3 years in the Navy during World War II.

Wilber Anniversary Aids Town Kids

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber—A few hundred friends dropped in on the Henry H. Dietrichs here, but they not only were expected—they paid $1.25 a person.

The Dietrichs moved to the community from Sterling just 10 years ago, and they chose an unusual way to celebrate the anniversary. Tickets were sold for a community barbecue at the Sportsmen's club, with profits to be split between the American Legion baseball programs and the high school band.

"Instead of having a big hullabaloo just for us, we thought we'd do something for the town's kids," said Dietrich, known to everyone as Heinie.

The restaurant owner, who is also justice of the peace and police magistrate, had competition from blaring Bohemian records as he explained that the fried chicken supper was "partly to show our appreciation to the town." He told how Wilber has been especially good to his 3 boys and two girls.

Although you wouldn't learn it from Heinie, his friends say the barbecue is typical of activities which have made him virtually the town's No. 1 booster. He has been chamber of commerce president, and works regularly with the summer baseball program. All this and more, on top of long restaurant hours.

sponsored football banquets,

Heinie was too busy to talk much as he scurried around, wondering how many of the 700 persons buying tickets would actually attend the feed. He had one great concern—that proper credit be given to his assistant chefs. The Traveling Men's Council of the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce helped prepare and serve the food.

Notes Under 'Floor-Plan' Arrangement Taxable

Promissory notes from a car dealer to a licensed purchaser of installment paper under the so-called "floor-plan" arrangement are taxable in addition to the 12 mill tax imposed on gross income derived from the purchase of installment paper.

This is what the attorney general said in an opinion released Tuesday for state tax commissioner Fred Herrington.

The floor plan is an arrangement where the firm licensed to purchase installment paper advances funds necessary for the dealer to buy new automobiles. The firm retains title under an agreement with the dealer who signs an ordinary demand promissory note with interest to the licensee.

Title Transferred

When the dealer sells one or more cars, a separate release of each individual auto is executed and title is transferred to the dealer which is then transferred to the purchases.

Such notes are taxable, the opinion said, unless it is clearly established that such transactions are a part of the business of purchasing installment paper.

But it continued, that the facts given it is not clearly apparent that this independent financing is actually part of the firm's business as a purchaser of installment paper.

"It appears to us that this practice merely involves the loan of funds to the dealer, retaining title as security for the loan and receiving back an ordinary promissory note. We are unable to find any basis for the claimed tax exemption of this type of intangible property," the opinion said.

Farm Bureau Meet Urges End To Income Tax

Chicago (UPI) — The nation's biggest farm organization tentatively approved Tuesday a proposal to repeal the individual federal income tax.

Delegates to the 41st annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation unanimously passed the proposal by the Wyoming delegation that abolishment of the tax be included in the recommendations of the organization's resolutions committee.

"And it wouldn't impoverish the government one bit," said Donald Hanson, a strapping Kaycee, Wyo., rancher leading his state's drive for the tax repeal.

"The federal government takes the money it gets from the individual income tax and uses it to participate in the areas that should be left to private enterprise," Hanson said.

He said the statements "are not mine. They're proven in the Hoover Report."

"Government employes who lack the incentive of the 'profit motive' and who are subject to mistakes by the very nature of their business, then proceed to lose about $10 billion a year through their inefficiency," Hanson, 52, father of 6 children and owner of 3 ranches in Wyoming and South Dakota said.

The resolutions committee had proposed that the "operation of commercial business by the government in competition with private enterprise" be stopped.

Reuben Anderson, another Wyoming rancher in Hanson's group, officially proposed that the income tax repeal clause be added to the resolution, and the delegates approved.

The 5,000 delegates attending the convention were especially concerned about economics. One resolution labeled inflation "our most serious economic problem," and Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) told the delegates cheap money and centralized government have brought the nation "to a level of state socialism which is obvious if not admitted."

Russ-Afghan Highway

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union will send surveyors out shortly to chart the route of a 470-mile highway running from the Soviet border to southeast Afghanistan, the official Soviet news agency Tass said. The Russians will supervise construction and furnish road-building machinery and some material.

Question Youth In Knifing Of Creighton Coed

Omaha (AP)—Police continued Tuesday night their questioning of a 17-year-old white youth in the knife slashing of a Creighton University coed.

Carol Ann Snellenberger, 18, was slashed 10 times with a pocket knife when she fought off the attempt Monday night of a youth seeking to force her to accompany him.

Carol Ann was slashed on the abdomen, chest and hip but not seriously cut. Her condition is satisfactory, hospital attendants said.

Carol was on her way from the administration building to her residence hall, two blocks away, when the youth approached her on the street.

He tapped her on the shoulder and said "come with me and you won't be hurt."

Carol, thinking it was a student prank, laughingly replied "cut it out, you fool."

Her assailant's reaction was to start hitting her.

The pair struggled into the middle of the street and then the girl's screams sent the youth racing away.

Carol then realized she had been slashed with a knife. She staggered to the steps of the university book store and collapsed.

Just Out Of Pen, Pleads Innocent To Being Fugitive

A man who was released from the State Penitentiary only Sunday pleaded innocent Tuesday in Lancaster County Court to being a fugitive from justice.

Joseph William Lyons was charged with being a fugitive from charges of auto theft, burglary and grand larceny in Kansas City, Mo. The charges there resulted from incidents which occurred before he began his prison term here.

Judge Herbert A. Ronin set a hearing on the case for Jan. 27 and set appearance bond at $6,000.

Grand Island Car Firm Incorporates

Articles of incorporation were filed with the Nebraska Secretary of State's office Tuesday by Kinman Chevrolet-Cadillac, Inc., of Grand Island.

IDEA OF THE WEEK FROM DECEMBER BETTER HOMES & GARDENS

CENTER YOUR HOLIDAY BUFFET WITH GAY EGG-AND-OLIVE PENGUINS

Each little fellow is fashioned from a big hard-cooked egg, a couple of ripe olives (cans labeled "Giant" contain exactly the right head size), and a few pieces of carrot.

Cut a thin slice off the large end of each peeled egg and stand egg up. For penguin's head, insert one end of toothpick lengthwise into ripe olive; insert other end in top of egg. Use ¼ of a ripe olive (cut lengthwise) for each wing, a long sliver for the "necktie." Poke a short piece of toothpick into each section of olive first (from inner side) then into egg.

For feet, cut a lengthwise slice of carrot, a little less than ⅛ inch thick; cut the slice crosswise in ¾-inch lengths. Taper sides of each piece of carrot and notch wide end to make webbed foot; tuck a pair part way under each egg. Whittle a beak from the carrot and push it into the ripe olive that makes penguin's head.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

In case you are wondering, corporate Christmas presents are deductible. Merry Christmas, corp. Merry Christmas, Inc.

I get little jewels like this from my Christmas mail.

"A gift subscriptio n to 'Loopholes' may be just the thing for that Man Who Has Everything. 'Loopholes' tells you how to compute your taxes to the best advantage."

Loopholes, I gather, is the Infantry Journal of the corporate captains.

Reduce your taxes. Give a fruit cake.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, in this popcorn-and-fireside season, it is nice to think that both the Almighty and the Federal Income Tax man loveth a cheerful giver.

"Appropriate gifts at Christmas can be used to lighten next year's tax load."

The word "appropriate" is lacking an appropriate definition, if you ask me. Appropriate gifts caused a great deal of talk this last year on the picture-tube circuit. I suspect this Christmas will be a thoughtful time. Scrooge will put a little less coal on the fire.

☆ ☆ ☆

Most corporations give fruit cake. For a number of years I was on a fruit-cake list for an airline—as a verb-and-adjective reporter I never rose above the calendar list and the first fruit cake really made me break down. I knew I had it made at last.

Anyway, fruit cakes are certainly a good one.

They are for the Man Who Has Everything. Because this Man rarely has a fruit cake. If you doubt me, look in the cupboard. Do you have a fruit cake? Of course not.

You can give a fruit cake to almost anybody who has everything. And you are pretty sure not to duplicate. Most people don't have fruit cakes because they are not high on fruit cakes. That is a good reason to give them one.

You have to give an awful lot of fruit cakes to get any tax relief.

☆ ☆ ☆

Of firms reporting on their Christmas intentions, 67 per cent give presents to customers, 18 per cent to dealers, 27 per cent to distributors, 28 per cent to em - ployees.

After fruit cakes, the favorite gift is office equipment. Those little desk calendars and pencil sets and little books to keep dates in. Only you can never find it because somebody to r e out some pages to make a grocery list on.

Only 10 per cent give liquor. That is a sober note and the report declares: "Many corporations find liquor inappropriate as a gift since much depends on the receiver's attitude on drinking."

I do not think this is the reason at all.

I think corporation executives keep it and lush it up themselves. They are Men Who Have Everything and intend to keep it.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am a corporation. That is, I have a corporation though it is a kind of lonesome little thing and I don't do much with it.

Anyway, I have this corporate body and am grateful for all this advice on what it should give for Christmas. My corporation will probably give fruit cakes—it is a non-drinking corporation but is always willing to take a ginger ale and say, "No, I'll get it," when the check comes around.

It is a good-hearted corporation. It will give heavily to its employees.

At present, I am the only employee. So that works out well.

It has no customers. We can forget them. Likewise no dealers, no distributors.

I think this corporation had better give a GOOD fruit cake. Maybe a fruit cake stuffed with $20 bills. All that and tax relief, too. And a gift subscription to Loopholes. All's well that ends well.

Restraining Order On Real Estate License Revoking

The State Real Estate Commission said Tuesday the Lincoln County District Court has issued a temporary restraining order of its revocation of the real estate license of Rod Gillespie of North Platte.

The commission recently revoked Gillespie's license because of a real estate transaction.

A hearing on the temporary restraining order has b e e n called for Jan. 4 at North Platte, the commission said.

ASK—
Dorothy Draper

Some people never eat anywhere but in their dining room. What a chance for change they are missing! We all can't travel as much as we would like, but we can manage to eat a variety of foods from different countries: spaghetti Milanese, chili Loredo, Vermont baked beans and brown bread, etc. in different places in our own home.

Try a dinner on those individual lap-level king size tray stands. Put up a card table with a flower-sprinkled cloth in front of the fire. Use your coffee table as a picnic bench with a gay red and white tablecloth touching the floor. Or, (if you're young enough) treat it as a Japanese table and sit around it on cushions on the floor.

If there are just two of you, try Sunday morning breakfast on the table in the corner of your bedroom. Variety is the spice of life and we all need a little spice in our diet now and then!

Mrs. C.O.C. asks:

"Our front door has a window extending from the middle of the door to the top. We have Venetian blinds on the door and would like to know if drapes should also be used on the door. Does the door look undressed with only the Venetian blinds and no drapes?"

Dear Mrs. C.O.C.:

Personally, I think Venetian blinds on a front door look cold and impersonal. Why don't you take down the blind and put up a straight-top cafe curtain on a gleaming brass rod? It would, I am sure, give a much friendlier welcome to your front door.

Mrs. E.M.G. asks:

"I was given a hand-made patchwork quilt. I want to use it as a coverlet with an unbleached muslin (background of quilt) dust ruffle. Off white walls. Pine early American furniture. The quilt is multi-colored but blue and yellow predominate. What could you suggest for color of rugs and curtains, making the quilt the focal point?"

Dear Mrs. E.M.G.:

I would like to see the curtains a crisp yellow with matching fringed edge, and a rug in blue mist or maple sugar.

Mrs. R.L.H. asks:

"I have an old Morris chair that is in good condition and was wondering how to fix it up to make it interesting looking?"

Dear Mrs. R.L.H.:

Paint it a patent-leather black, and cover the cushions in shocking pink felt or a bold horseblanket-plaid.

DEAR ABBY
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are an average family with three daughters, ages 11, 13 and 15. Our problem is the 15-year-old. She is very selfish.

We give all the girls an allowance and buy them the best clothes we can afford, but with all three of them having their teeth straightened at once, we have to watch our pennies.

Our 15-year-old daughter baby-sits. We told her she could do what she wanted with her baby-sitting money so she spends it all on clothes.

Instead of saving the clothes to hand down to her sisters, she told me (and this hurt) if I wanted them I could buy them back from the second-hand store. How would you handle this girl, Abby?

HURT MOM

DEAR MOM: The money your daughter earns is her own. And so are the clothes she buys with that money. You can't force her to give but you can give ALL the girls a good lesson in values by placing less emphasis on clothes and money and more on the old-fashioned virtues, such as generosity, fair play and "do-unto-other-ness."

DEAR ABBY: My problem is much different from most women's. They are trying to find ways to keep their husbands home. I am trying to find a way to get mine to go someplace.

Ever since we were married four years ago, my husband has refused to go anywhere without me. I asked him to go play poker or to go have a beer or two with the men but he says he doesn't think it is right for a married man to go places and leave his wife alone.

He takes me out for dinner and a movie once a week and when I tell him he is entitled to a night out by himself he says he would rather stay home with me. We have a five-week-old baby and I have all day to get my work done so it isn't like I need my husband to stay home evenings to help me. Don't get me wrong — I love my husband. I just want him to go out and enjoy himself like other men.

MRS. L. Y.

DEAR MRS. L. Y.: You are the first woman who has ever written to complain because her husband was an angel. Cover him up. He might get pneumonia.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

TOWN TALK

—Speaking of Christmas —(and who isn't?) we have some holiday homecomers to mention this morning—plus news of guests who will be arriving in time for Christmas.

* * *

—Right now we want to extend a greeting and say a Merry Christmas to Miss Kylee Stuart who arrived on Monday, December 14, at the Lutheran Hospital in Beatrice. The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, and her mother is the former Ann Weston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson B. Weston of Beatrice—and Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Stuart of Lincoln are the paternal grandparents—and the paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown.

* * *

—We'll begin the news at home with the holiday homecomers — members of the away-at-school set who will be arriving this week end—

* * *

—On the Saturday arrivals list are Miss Judy Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams, and Miss Diana Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hale, both of whom chose to attend the University of Arizona at Tucson for their sophomore year at college.

—A careerist who will be arriving on Friday to remain until Dec. 27, is Miss Margo Hunt of New York City who will be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hunt.

Other Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt will be Mrs. Hunt's mother, Mrs. C. E. Alter of Denver, who arrives next Sunday—and Jack Pope of New York City who will fly in on Monday, Dec. 21.

* * *

—Learned, too, that Mrs. Fred Wright of Scottsbluff will be coming to Lincoln on Sunday to be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Flavel Wright, during the holidays.

Christmas Is Coming

That delectable bit of culinary art in the picture is a "dacquoise" — as French as the mistress of the cuisine, Mrs. B. Frank Watson, and her three exceedingly interested spectators.

As a matter of fact the three young matrons — Mrs. Lester Holt,, (extreme left) Mrs. Raymond Cook and Mrs. Robert Dather (extreme right) are taking a lesson in French cookery. All three are native French women, and all three are married to Lincoln men who, we surmise, will be having some super-deluxe pastries during the Christmas season this year.

With Mrs. Watson cooking is a fascinating — well, let's say hobby — for want of just the right word. Her interest in it began when she was a very young girl, and when she was old enough she attended one of the famous French cooking schools where she learned that food can be a matter of beauty as well as taste.

Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Dather were not so fortunate — They were too young to have much interest in cooking before World War II, and during the war years and those that followed, there was not the time to master the art— But now they are getting a few pointers from Mrs. Watson on those Wednesday afternoons the group is together.

We have sampled the "dacquoise" — It is as good as it looks. But don't ask for the recipe because you won't get it. It isn't that Mrs. Watson would refuse to be generous, but it was given to her by the owner of a patisserie shop in Paris, and the promise was asked — and given — that Mrs. Watson would never divulge the secret to the general public.

SUBURBIA

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

Learned that Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ducker and their son, Walt, and daughter, Mary, will motor to Omaha to spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Ducker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shainholtz.

Also on hand for the family gathering in Omaha will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Folk (the former Jody Shainholtz, Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska) and their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, of Lincoln, and Dr. and Mrs. Bill Shainholtz (Judy Wiebe, Delta Gamma at Nebraska) and their children, Jeff and Sidney, of Denver.

Dr. and Mrs. Shainholtz and their family, will also be visiting in Lincoln with Mrs. Shainholtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wiebe, during the holidays.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Arriving just in time to celebrate her first Christmas was Miss Lynn Marie Tedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tedrick, who was born at Lincoln General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 8. Lynn has three brothers, Mike, Dan and Jon.

Her paternal grandmother is Mrs. R. E. Tedrick of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Magnuson of Fremont are the maternal grandparents.

Certainly will seem like a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eberspacher this Christmas season. Due to arrive for the holidays are Mrs. Eberspacher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Dimery of Big Pine, Calif., her brother, Vel Dimery, who is a student at the University of Oklahoma at Norman, and her uncle, Charles Dimery, and Mr. Eberspacher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eberspacher, all of Beaver Crossing.

This will be the first visit Mrs. Eberspacher's parents have had with their first grandchild, Martin Robert Eberspacher, who was born the middle of October.

More west coast visitors on our Christmas list are to be the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill DeRock. The visitors will include Mrs. DeRock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Anderson, her sister, Miss Alma Anderson, and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hughes and their family, all of National City, Calif.

The DeRock couple, their four children, and the guests will spend part of the holidays in Wymore with the rest of their family.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Mr. and Mrs. John Stuck are the proud parents of a new daughter who arrived at St. Elizabeth Hospital last Sunday, Dec. 6. The young lady has two brothers, John and Joe.

Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stucky of Pretty Prairie, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Muth of Wichita, Kan., are the maternal grandparents.

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Stucky arrived from Pretty Prairie on Sunday, Dec. 6, to meet their new granddaughter. While Mr. Stucky returned home that same day, Mrs. Stucky visited in Lincoln until last Monday.

Faculty Party

Faculty members of Clinton School held their annual Christmas party Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Maynard Brummer. Following refreshments, a gift exchange was held.

KITCHEN PIN-UP

For a made-in-advance hot canape specialty, these crunchy-coated coconut meat balls are just the thing. They can be kept hot over a table warmer, or in the kitchen oven —they'll go quickly.

HAWAIIAN MEAT BALLS HORS D'OEUVRES

4 eggs
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
4½ teaspons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1½ teaspoons minced garlic
4 pounds ground beef
4 cans (3½ oz. each) flaked coconut

Beat eggs lightly with 1½ teaspoons salt and ½ teaspoon pepper. Combine remaining salt, pepper, garlic, beef. Shape into balls the size of a walnut. Dip each in seasoned egg, then roll in coconut. Fry in deep fat (350F.) 2 to 3 minutes, until coconut is golden brown and meat is cooked. Makes about 100 balls.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

The declarer would often do better if he knew exactly how the opponents' cards were divided. Seldom would he fail to make as many tricks as possible if he could see the adverse hands.

An important part of dummy play, therefore, is to be able to figure out the makeup of the opponents' hands, even though their cards cannot actually be seen. In many hands it is possible for declarer to do this.

West led the king of clubs and continued with the queen, East playing high-low. West then shifted to the nine of hearts. Had declarer finessed at this point, that would have been the end of the party. East could win the heart and return a heart for a one-trick set.

But South knew the heart finesse was futile. He knew from the opening plays that West had started with the A-K-Q-10-x-x of clubs. He also knew West had passed originally. It was therefore scarcely possible that West could have either the king of hearts or diamonds, or he would have opened the bidding.

To stake his chances on finesses in both suits seemed sure to lead to eventual defeat. Accordingly, having also worked out an alternate line of play, declarer went up with the ace of hearts. He put to work the knowledge that East was marked to have both red kings.

He led seven rounds of trumps in succession, reducing his own hand to the singleton eight of hearts and the 8-3 of diamonds. In dummy he kept the queen of hearts and the A-Q of diamonds.

East had to come down to three cards also, and held the king of hearts and the K-7 of diamonds.

The endplay position was now set up. A heart lead forced East to win with the king and return a diamond to dummy's A-Q.

So South made four spades. He took advantage of an inference that could be logically drawn from the bidding. In effect, he played as though he had seen all 52 cards.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Indians Obtain Temple

McLish, Martin, 1st Sacker To Reds

Cincinnati (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night traded their ace second baseman, Johnny Temple, to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Cal McLish, second baseman Billy Martin and first baseman Gordon Coleman.

Temple

The deal was completed, a spokesman said, just before the midnight deadline for trading between National and American League teams.

Temple, at age 29 at the peak of his talents, is one of the Reds' best hitters and surest fielders.

He was in the Top 10 hitters of the National League most of last season and wound up hitting .311. Although not a slugger—he weighs 167 pounds—Temple hit 8 homers, stole base 14 times, scored 102 runs and had 67 RBIs.

Temple was picked the Reds' Most Valuable Player of 1958 after a similar season.

McLish won 19 games and lost 8 for Cleveland last season. He gives the Reds much-needed strength among starting pitchers.

Martin hit .260 with 9 home runs last season.

Coleman, who could prove the key player in the deal, led the Southern Assn. with a .355 average for Mobile, Ala., last summer.

Plainsmen Roll Over OU With Hot 1st Half, 84-69

By Paul LeBar

Wesleyan shot hot in the first half and overpowered hustling Omaha 84-69 at the Taylor gymnasium Tuesday night.

It was the Plainsmen's most impressive outing to date. They shot at 48.6 over the first half, then glided to the wire.

Rudy Stoehr returned to form and collaborated with Ken Major and Jim Munford to keep Coach Irv Peterson's club out of danger.

The Plainsmen never trailed although pressed for the first 10 minutes.

Rudy Takes Over

Stoehr, held to low productions recently, took over and helped boost his mates to a 44-29 halftime spread.

Rudy and junior Dennis Semin connected as the second chapter opened, and Omaha never recovered.

Accurate firing by Bruce Hunter was the scrappy Indians' best weapon.

He hit for 10 of his 16-point aggregate after intermission as Omaha looped in 16 of 33 field goals attempts.

Despite the bulls-eyes Wesleyan loped to a 70-47 spread with 8:39 left.

Semin and Munford inflicted the most damage, the latter counting 10-for-10 from the line.

Bulge Wasted

Subs took over backcourt duty for Duane Eichorn and Ron Gillham in the fading minutes and let an 80-52 bulge dissipate.

Stoehr pierced the nets for 8 fielders in the opening stanza and carried off high-point honors with 21.

Major enjoyed a 13-point opening chapter and wound up with 17. Munford totaled 16.

Frosh Joe Neuberger's 14 were second best for Coach Sonny Means' Omahans.

Link, Rocket Tankers Open With Triangular

Lincoln High and Northeast swim teams debut at 4 this afternoon in a triangular with Omaha South at the Links' aquatank.

Lincoln Coach Cal Bentz thinks his outlook for the year is a mite better than last season.

He points out, however, that swimming is on the upgrade through Cornhusker prep circles.

Ken Wall at Northeast says, "Things don't look especially promising."

Fowles Back

Lincoln's tank crew is led by Bill Fowles, 3-time state butterfly champion and potential prep All-American. Nine other letter winners bolster the 35-man squad.

Veterans include: John Akers, diving-distance; Ron Bowers, backstroke-distance; Cory Gacusana, sprint-butterfly-individual medley; Don Dermyer, butterfly-sprint; Bill Evans, distance; Dick Ripley, distance-sprint-back stroke; Dick Revis, breaststroke-backstroke; Dave Myers, sprints; and Jim Wallen, sprints.

Better newcomers are Mike Schneider, Willis Leyden, Tony Holder, Bob Johnston, Ray Frohn, and Terry Tice.

The Links finished last season with a 4-4 dual meet record and 3rd place in the state meet.

Farrell Leads

Wall has only 6 returning lettermen at Northeast. Backstroker Bob Farrell is the only returnee who scored in the '59 state meet. The Rockets placed 5th.

Other monogram winners are: Jim Hemple, backstroke; Don Copas, breaststroke; Chuck Foster, free-style-butterfly; Pete Crancer, sprints; and Jim Young distance.

"With this shortage of material," predicted Wall, "we'll probably have to run through 4 or 5 meets before we start scoring many points."

Oklahoma Hits Cold Mustangs

Norman, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma hit a hot streak and Southern Methodist turned ice cold midway through the second half Tuesday night and the Sooners snared a 65-57 basketball victory.

It was a see-saw affair until the 11-minute mark of the second half. With SMU ahead 46-45, the Sooners ripped off 12 straight over a 5-minute span while the Mustangs couldn't hit. Prior to that the game had been tied 8 times.

Dennis Price and Brian Etheridge each got 15 points for Oklahoma while reserve Carter Creech got the same for SMU.

POINT BLANK

'Sun Will Still Shine'

One of the unfathomables of sports is why a basketball goes through a hoop one night and doesn't the next.

Such was the case Monday night when Notre Dame whipped Nebraska, 70-62. Neither team was sensational; neither team played poorly.

Rather, Notre Dame looked like a pretty good basketball team—particularly rugged. And Nebraska impressed because the Huskers never gave up.

But the Scarlets couldn't make their good shots, and resorted to bad shots which also missed the target. Hurting the NU cause, of course, was the fact that Capt. Herschell Turner and his running mate, Al Maxey, were definitely cold in the shooting department.

Turner took a 17.7 average into the game and got 10 points; Maxey had a 15.7 average and tallied 11. It's no secret that as this duo goes, so go the Cornhuskers.

Hard Loser

Capt. Hersch took the loss to the Irish mighty hard. Coach Jerry Bush had benched him during the final 6 minutes and he took the loss as a personal failure. Bush had a long chat with his tearful floor general after the game, no doubt telling him that the sun would shine again.

Hersch loves basketball and he hates to lose, it's that simple. And no doubt the young man from Indianapolis was frustrated for fair Monday—the ball wouldn't go in, he was having a bad night in general and then the final score.

All of the Huskers were downcast, a good sign that they will try all the harder to avert future defeats. Bush, one of the hardest losers in the business, recognized that all the ned-raising in the world won't make the ball go through the hoop on a cold night.

Other Games

The Big Bear consoled his troops, patted them on the back and reminded them all that "there is still a long season ahead."

Most puzzled Husker was Sophomore Jan Wall of Lincoln.

"I just can't understand it," he said quietly. "I just can't hit my shots."

Bush had the answer for that one, too.

"Listen, quit worrying about it," Jerry told the ex-Northeast Rocket star. "Get confidence in yourself. I don't care if you shoot a million times. You've got a good shot, so keep shooting. It will come, just don't press."

Height Problem

There's no doubt that Nebraska has its work cut out because of the lack of necessary height. This will be the Huskers' biggest problem all season.

But the Bushmen are real battlers who want to win in the worst way. Chances are there will be more "good nights" than "bad" ones.

And it will prevent a lot of worry if the ball will just go through the hoop with regularity.

If anyone has a fool proof system that will guarantee a swisher with every cast, Bush will be most receptive. He's got most of the answers, but the "cold-night" solution is a stickler.

KOPECKYS AND BARGENS TWO-TIMING OPPONENTS

By Al Beebe

Spencer's Kopecky brothers and the Bargen boys from Hardy are making things tough on foes in basketball this season. For their work last week, the quartet share top honors as The Star's Basketball Player of the Week."

The Kopeckys are both sophomores, though Leonard is 17 and Ronnie 15. Leonard, at 6-1, is two inches taller than his brother.

In Spencer's 67-51 victory over Butte, Leonard scored 27 points while clearing the boards. Ronnie added 21, making the win easy.

At Hardy, Gary Bargen is a 6-1 senior who earned Class E All-State honors a year ago. Denny is a 6-0 junior. In Hardy's 52-26 thumping of Ruskin, Gary pumped home 20 points, Denny added 16, and both were outstanding in the stingy defense.

These 4 stars, plus these other top performers, will receive cards from The Star.

Neligh—Bill Brungardt had a good week, hitting 39 against Creighton and 36 against Bloomfield.

Norfolk—Doug Busskohl scored basket and two free throws in final two seconds to beat Yankton, S.D., 51-49.

Litchfield—Clarence Trumble had 40 points in 58-46 win over Ansley.

York—Jay Crawford's free throws in last 45 seconds edged rival Holdrege, 35-32.

Albion—Myron Thorberg's two free tosses in second overtime ended play for Aurora, 48-46.

Arnold—High-scoring Paul Croghan hit high mark with school record 44 in 69-52 win over Sargent.

Silver Creek—Dennis Van Winkle got 13 of his 18 points in final period to lead 49-47 nipping of Polk.

Boelus—Two-man combination of Marvin Caspersen (32) and Ken Sorensen (31) smashed Pleasanton, 84-48.

SF's Spencer, Wagner Traded For Blasingame

...Giants Outbid Braves For Cards' 2nd Sacker

St. Louis (AP) — The San Francisco Giants tightened up their infield Tuesday, acquiring second baseman Don Blasingame from the St. Louis Cardinals for infielder Daryl Spencer and outfielder Leon Wagner.

Both the Giants, who ran out of steam at the tail end of the 1959 campaign and finished 3rd behind Los Angeles and Milwaukee, and the Braves bid for Blasingame's services.

Both needed a reliable second baseman.

The swap is calculated to help both National League clubs.

The Cards plan to use Spencer at shortstop, his natural position, and Wagner in right field, switching Alex Grammas from short to second base.

In the 27-year-old Blasingame, the Giants received a silk-smooth operative.

Gets On Base

A native of Corinth, Miss., Blasingame batted .289 in 150 games last season. No power hitter, his forte was getting on base. He hit only one home run, but drew 67 bases on balls. He had 24 runs batted in.

Blasingame fielded .979, with only 17 errors in 818 chances. He took part in 104 double plays.

Spencer, 30, more of a power hitter than Blasingame if not as consistent with the stick, batted .269, with 12 homers and 61 RBIs.

Playing 151 games at second, Spencer fielded .970 with 24 miscues in 787 chances. He was in on 82 double plays.

Wagner Slumps

Wagner, a muscular, 25-year-old Negro from Chattanooga, Tenn., fell off last year after a sensational debut with the Giants the year before.

He hit only .225 in 87 games, with 5 homers and 22 RBIs.

The year before Wagner finished up at a .317 clip after joining the Giants in mid-season, with 13 home runs and 35 RBIs in 74 games.

Wagner apparently was the man who swung the pendulum in the Giants' favor. Redbird manager Solly Hemus hopes to get a lot of mileage out of the left-handed hitting Wagner in the 77 home games at Busch Stadium, a southpaw swinger's delight.

Braves Decline

General Manager Bing Devine of the Cards confirmed that he tried to land Bob Buhl and Johnny Logan from the Braves in exchange for Blasingame and Grammas, but was turned down.

O-State Outlasts Tulsans

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State nudged Tulsa Tuesday night in a typical Iba brother ball control basketball game.

OSU ran up a 27-16 halftime lead but Tulsa, winless in 5 starts, hit 7 of its first 8 shots after the intermission and grabbed its only lead of the night at 33-32 with 11 minutes left.

Coach Hank IBA's cowboys then got the lead back for good but had to hang on for dear life. His son Moe hit a free throw with 33 seconds left to make it 41-39.

Then Jim Weaver of Tulsa was fouled with 16 seconds left. He missed the first shot, hit the second and the Cowboys maintained possession the rest of the way.

Brother Clarence IBA's Tulsa quintet shot only 30 times and hit on 17 for 56%.

Oklahoma State fired 44 times and also hit 17 for 38.6%.

Nats Reject $Half-Million Bid For Belter Killebrew

Washington (AP) — The Washington Senators have turned down a half million dollars for slugger Harmon Killebrew, club president Calvin Griffith said Tuesday.

Griffith said the offer came from a National League club. Griffith refused to identify the team but Gabe Paul, General Manager of the Reds, said in Cincinnati he suggested the deal last August.

Paul added he made the same offer for Camilo Pascual, the Senators' right-handed pitching ace.

More eager for players than cash, Griffith rejected the proposition last weekend. It was one of the largest money bids in baseball history.

Three years ago the Cleveland Indians declined a reported million dollar offer by the Boston Red Sox for Herb Score.

The left-handed fast ball pitcher faded almost immediately. First he was struck in the face by a batted ball. Then he developed arm trouble.

The Senators themselves were on the receiving end of the biggest recorded cash deal. The late Clark Griffith traded Joe Cronin, his boy manager-shortstop, to the Red Sox for $250,000 and infielder Lyn Lary in 1935.

Player for player exchanges are now the rule, as Griffith indicated in explaining why he preferred Killebrew to a fortune.

"You can't play money at 3rd base," Griffith said.

Killebrew said at Payette, Idaho, his home town, he was surprised anyone would offer that much for his services and more surprised that the Senators didn't grab it.

"It's quite a thrill to know that Mr. Griffith and the Washington ball club feel that way about me," he said.

Killebrew is no stylist as a 3rd baseman but is among the strongest hitters in the game.

Last year, his first as a regular in the majors, the 23-year-old right-hander crashed 42 home runs. Rocky Colavito of the Indians caught up late in the season to tie him for the American League lead.

Homerin' Harmon also has cash value as a Senator. His slugging helped pick up the tail end Senators' home attendance by almost 30 per cent, to 615,372, in 1959.

"Killebrew will be a great asset to baseball and to the Senators," Griffith said. "He is still a young boy and will improve each year. And he will add to our revenue."

Griffith turned down another big bid last spring. The Chicago White Sox were understood to have offered $250,000 and players for Roy Sievers, a pitcher and one other Senator.

USC Coach Clark Quits

...Assistant McKay Successor

Los Angeles (AP)—The University of Southern California announced Tuesday that Don Clark has quit as head football coach. Assistant coach John McKay was named head coach.

Clark, 35, said he will leave the university March 1 to accept a position as executive vice president with a Southern California clothing supply firm.

He had just completed the 3rd year of a 4-year contract. His last season was his best—the Trojans compiled an 8-2 record. USC ranked as high as No. 3 in the AP football poll until it was upset by crosstown rival UCLA 10-3 and walloped by Notre Dame 16-6 in the last two games.

Losing Record

His 3-year coaching record was 13-16-1.

McKay, 36, joined Southern California as a backfield coach this season after 9 years in a similar capacity at the University of Oregon.

Clark was named head coach at USC on Feb. 7, 1957. He had been Trojan line coach for the previous 6 years.

'47 Captain

A guard during his playing days at Southern Cal, he lettered in 1942-46-47. He was captain of the 1947 team which lost to Michigan in the 1948 Rose Bowl.

Following his college career, Clark played two years of pro ball with the San Francisco 49ers. He returned to USC as line coach in 1951 after serving in a similar position for one year under Eddie Erdelatz at the Naval Academy.

USC's 1959 season was marred by a dirty play controversy in the California game. Trojan guard Mike McKeever was accused of deliberately using his elbows to smash Cal halfback Steve Bates, who was lying on the sidelines after being tackled.

Defends Lineman

Clark vigorously defended his star lineman. After a few days of argument and accusation, university president Norman Topping apologized to California and promised to guard against repetitions. Clark kept silent.

But Trojan backers said the apology lowered the team's morale.

Clark did not mention the McKeever incident in announcing his resignation.

Illinois Will Hold Up Coaching Pick

Chicago (AP)—Illinois will not recommend the name of a new had football coach at today's board of trustees meeting, as at first expected.

Illini athletic director Doug Mills said the school's athletic board just hasn't had time enough to select a candidate for trustees' approval.

This keep the Illini in the lead of a gridiron guessing game sweeping the area. Ray Eliott retired after the 1959 season.

Becoming involved in the swirl are coaches Ara Parseghian of Northwestern and Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame.

Parseghian admits that he is willing to listen to any good offer from anywhere. This follows reports that he may be approached by the University of Florida.

Kuharich, with a 5-5 record in his first year with the Irish, still is being mentioned on the West Coast among possible candidate to replace the Los Angeles Rams' Sid Gillman.

The Chicago Cardinals won only two games but insist Frank Ivy will be back next season.

Owner George Halas of the Chicago Bears says coach George Halas will be back next year. Halas is about the only coach in the country who can make that statement. And he add, with a chuckle: "I'll be back unless I get a better offer."

Raschke Top Hope Of NU's Wrestlers

Jim Raschke, Nebraska's only point winner during the Huskers' southern trip last week, will be in action again Friday night when the university meets Colorado Mines at the coliseum.

First match starts at 7:30. Husker Coach Bill Smith believes Raschke can develop into a champion if he can get more speed.

Raschke lost an 8-6 decision to Ted Ellis, Oklahoma State's NCAA champion at Stillwater.

Kansas Swimmers To Dual Nebraska

Kansas State swimmers invade Lincoln Thursday for the first dual meet test of Nebraska's swim season.

The meet starts at 4 p.m. in the coliseum pool.

K-State and Nebraska competed in the Kansas Relays at Lawrence last weekend, the Huskers placing second to the host team.

Groves' Shot Awards Mates Tie For Lead

Lincoln Star Special

Fremont — Denny Groves' tip-in in the final second gave Midland College a share of the Nebraska College Conference here Tuesday night.

Sophomore Groves' second effort on Glen McCoy's missed basket awarded the Warriors' a 70-68 victory, their second in as many NCC contests.

The last-second heroics climaxed a bitter struggle which Kearney led through most of the opening semester.

Midland, with Groves leading the pace, rallied from a 42-36 deficit at intermission and built a 9-point lead at 65-56 before Kearney caught fire again.

Tiny George Haun, Kearney's 5-7 guard, tied the issue at 68-68 with a brace of gifters in the last minute. Kearney muffed a subsequent foul shot and gave Midland its chance for the win.

Jones, Face Reap NL Mound Laurels

Cincinnati, O. (UPI)—Sam Jones of the San Francisco Giants and Elroy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates won the top pitching honors of the 1959 National League season, it was revealed Tuesday by the Elias Bureau's official league statistics.

Jones, 34-year-old workhorse of the under-manned Giant staff, beat out teammate Stu Miller and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl to win earned run honors with a 2.82 figure.

Face set a new percentage mark of .947 by compiling an 18-1 record.

Warren Spahn, brilliant southpaw of the Braves, weighed in with a record 10th 20-victory season for a left-hander and Harvey Haddix of the Pirates pitched the longest no-hitter in major league history.

Jones, acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals in a winter trade, appeared in 50 games, pitched 271 innings, compiled a 21-15 record, pitched 4 shutouts and had a 9-inning one-hitter and a 7-inning no-hitter for the Giants.

Face's .947 percentage topped the previous league mark of 16-2, .889 by Fred Fitzsimmons and the previous major league record of 15-1, .938 by Johnny Allen.

Spahn had a 21-15 record to improve on his own league record for 20-victory seasons by a left-hander.

Lew Burdette also reached the 20-win circle with a 21-15 slate.

Haddix pitched 12 perfect innings against the Braves on May 26 and was officially credited with the longest no-hitter in baseball history even though he lost a 1-0 decision in the 13th inning.

Don Drysdale was the league's strikeout king with 242 while Bill Henry and Don Elston of the Chicago appeared in the most games, 65 each.

Broncs Squash Dana By 67-53

Lincoln Star Special

Blair — Hastings bounded to a 37-21 halftime command and squashed Dana 67-53 in the Nebraska College Conference here Tuesday night.

The winners outshot their foes 28-14 from the floor. Dana never pulled closer than 10 points over the final half.

Jim Peterson's 24 points led Hastings to its first verdict of the season against 3 losses.

The setback was Dana's 3rd straight in the NCC.

5 Stat Crowns For Syracuse

...Stanford Dominates Passing

By The Associated Press

Syracuse never had an undefeated football team before 1959 and it never won a statistical team title. Then the Cotton Bowl-bound Orangemen went whole hog and romped off with 5 of the 9 major titles, one NCAA record and one second-best of all.

And Syracuse did it so convincingly that its hardly worth mentioning who was second in total yardage, rushing, scoring, total defense and resistance against rushing.

In the areas where the Syracuse team left room for competition, Stanford easily took forward passing honors, along with a half dozen lesser records.

Alabama edged out Montana in pass defense in the final game and also showed the highest percentage of enemy pass interceptions; Missisippi was stingiest in allowing scores and Brigham Young was first in scoring.

The Syracuse record came in the margin of offense over defense—a matter of 355.3 yards per game. The Orangemen gained an average of 451.1 yards and yielded only 92.6 a game.

The Syracuse defense figures, 92.6 yards overall and 19.3 by rushing were bettered only by the 78.6 and 17.0 posted by Penn State in 1947.

The other major Syracuse figures: scoring—39 points a game; passing—139.7 yards a game for 17th place but first in touchdown passes with 20.

Stanford's Dick Norman accounted for one-game team records in completions and accuracy when he hit 34 of 39 against California. And it was mainly his throwing that gave the Indians a batch of season records for teams playing only major opponents.

They were 176 completions, 2278 yards total, 227.8 yards per game and a margin of 40.8 yards a game over runner-up Marquette.

Mississippi's yield of 21 points in 10 games was the lowest since Tennessee shut out everybody in 1939.

Tax Shares At New High From Races

Each Nebraska county will receive an all-time high record share of $1,113.01 from the 1959 thoroughbred horse racing season in Nebraska, Chairman Grove Porter of the State Racing Commission reported Tuesday.

Last year's share was $785.55 per county, also a record.

Total share for counties amounts to $103,509.93, Porter said.

Of this amount Omaha's Ak-Sar-Ben track contributed $65,682.80 from admission taxes and license fees.

Nebraska's general tax fund under the new two per cent mutual tax received a total of $506,085.18 from the meetings at Omaha, Columbus, Lincoln, and South Sioux City.

Twyman Back With Duquesne

Pittsburgh (AP) — Red Manning, head coach of Duquesne University's basketball team, Tuesday announced the reinstatement of Ned Twyman, brother of Jack Twyman, floor star of the Cincinnati Royals.

Twyman and Mike Wolff were dismissed from the Dukes team last Nov. 12 for what Manning called "an indifferent attitude."

Manning said he reinstated Twyman because he has showed he wants to play.

Door Is Open If No Strings

. . . Says Dallas General Manager

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—The American Football League is open to Dicky Moegle and any other San Francisco 49er players—provided the National Football league has no string on them—the Dallas Texans' General Manager said Tuesday.

Moegle and 49er end R. C. Owens have indicated they are considered switching from the veteran league to the fledgling AFL.

"If Moegle wants to play for Dallas, and it's ethical, he will play for Dallas," said Don Rossi, Dallas general manager. "We wouldn't kick him out of the office if he came in to talk.

"We've been aboveboard in all operations. If he's through with his option, we'd be happy to have Richard Moegle. We haven't gone out and contacted NFL players, but the door is open.

"I don't know what the internal problem of the 49ers is, but Dallas would be interested in all 4 of those players. Under their contractual terms we'd like to talk to them."

The other two he referred to are reserve back Jim Ridlon and end Fred Dugan. They expressed a desire to play with another club.

McCook Indians In Easy Victory

Lincoln Star Special

Creston, Ia. — McCook JC went wild in the final 9 minutes of the first half, scoring 25 points while holding Creston (Ia.) JC to only 11 while en route to a 71-52 victory Tuesday night.

McCook's Marv Teel led the scoring show with 22 points. The Indians led at half time 41-25.

McCook travels to Highland, Kan., tonight and Nebraska Trade School Thursday to wind up a 4-game road trip.

PRICE TOO HIGH?

West Hempstead, N.Y. (AP)—One of the few spectators at an amateur boxing card in the Island Garden commented as he left the arena, "Amateur boxing ain't worth two cents."

So Arnold (Whitey) Carlson, owner of the Island Garden, announced that 5,000 general admission tickets for the Dec. 28 amateur card will be sold for 2 cents each.

North Carolina and North Carolina State first played football in 1894.

MIAMI SEEKS CLUB IN NFL

Miami, Fla. (AP) — George Storer, Miami baseball club owner, said Tuesday he and associates are seeking a National Football League franchise for this city.

The chances of getting it presumably depend on expansion of the NFL. The league meets at Miami Beach Jan. 20.

Miami Herald sports editor Jimmy Burns said Art Rooney, Pittsburgh NFL owner and member of the expansion committee, told him Miami would have a chance of obtaining a franchise no later than 1962 if the NFL should vote to expand in 1960 by admitting Minneapolis and Dallas.

'60 Hopefuls Get Once Over Brightly From Senate Twosome

Washington (UPI — Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), who already knows how, advised Vice President Nixon Tuesday to learn to "laugh from the belly" to improve his chances of becoming president.

In what he called a "jocular" analysis of presidential hopefuls, Wiley said Nixon is an "earnest young man with great ambition and ability" but that "his over-earnestness may ultimately prove a handicap."

"Folks like a man who can 'laugh from the belly,'" said Wiley, who ought to know. He has been in the Senate for 21 years and is a man of sizable girth.

Pizza Proficiency

As for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Wiley said:

"Rocky's loaded with vote-getting, as well as executive ability. As required, he can make important decisions, as well as eat pizza pie or kiss babies with the 'best of them' to get votes. Unless he gets into high gear soon, however, he may find that the party's nomination, allowing him to exercise his vote-getting abilities, will end up in somebody else's pocket."

While Wiley was poking fun at the presidential contenders in a press release, a fellow Republican, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (N.Y.), was doing the same in a speech at South Hadley, Mass. He addressed under-graduates of Smith College, Amherst, the University of Massachusetts and Mount Holyoke.

False-Front Duo

Keating noted that neither Nixon nor Rockefeller had formally announced their candidacies for the GOP nomination. He said they reminded him of the "I-won't-dance, don't-ask-me girl who's just dying to be swept off her feet and into a fast cha-cha."

The two senators viewed the Democratic hopefuls this way:

Adlai E. Stevenson—Wiley said Stevenson "will probably continue to impress the egg-heads, but his interstellar concepts . . . are not expected to persuade the majority of people to take this man too seriously."

However, Keating said that when the Democratic convention is over, "you may well see, on the top of the carnage, the high, shining triumphant dome of Adlai Stevenson."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.)—Wiley said he "will probably find that the rawhide with which he cracks straying mavericks in the Senate—effective though it may be—is not long enough to corral the votes in '60."

Keating said Johnson is a "man with one foot in the South . . . and trying to plant the other in the great vote-belt to the North and West." It's "nice work if you can get it," Keating said. "I don't think Sen. Johnson can."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) —"Talkative Hubert . . . may find his locquaciousness a hindrance, Wiley said. "By and large the homefolks figure a man's got to stop sometimes to think of what to say next . . ."

Keating said Humphrey's "ultra-liberal philosophy has made him a politically insular figure in his own party."

Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.) —"Stu's posture of a master critic in the U.S. defense-space program," according to Wiley, "has not yet demonstrated the rocket thrust necessary to catapult him into the White House."

Keating said Symington "could well be the second Missouri Compromise . . . walking in the middle of the road may be the shortest, surest way to nomination."

Sen. John F. Kennedy, (Mass.) — "Johnny, as a 'profile in campaign courage,' may possibly find the right words on some of the significant issues; but as of now, it appears that they lack the significant 'punch' to land him in the White House," Wiley said.

Keating said Kennedy faces "the purifying fires of the primaries and, next, the ordeal by ballot at Los Angeles (site of the Democratic convention). His strength there has to assert itself in an early victory or his supporters will melt away to other candidates."

Ex-Lincolnite On Historic Polar Flight

A former Lincolnite was a crewman on the historic flight which spotted a 3-tractor Russian expedition attempting a trans-Antarctic crossing, according to a report from Christchurch, New Zealand.

Reckling

The UPI report said that Lt. Darold L. Reckling, 34, of Sunnyville, Calif., and formerly of Lincoln, was a co-pilot on the U. S. Navy Constellation Sunday, that spotted the Russian expedition about a quarter of the way from the Soviet base at Vostok to the South Pole, while making the first passenger-plane crossing of the South Pole.

Reckling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Reckling, live at 3801 No. 13th.

Screen Gone From Prison Visiting Room

The screen which separated State Penitentiary inmates from their visitors has been removed.

Now, only a table separates visitors from the inmates in the institution's visiting room.

Volunteer prison labor removed the screen.

Warden Maurice Sigler said he and other prison officials believe it is important for the inmate's rehabilitation and preservation of his family unit for visiting to be as pleasant as possible.

Officers observe, but are out of earshot of the conversation.

U.S. families spend an average of $2.65 a week in the nation's 54,000 drug stores. To help sell their products through these and other outlets, manufacturers of toilet requisites spent nearly $35 million in newspaper advertising.

TEXTER APPEAL BOND $15,000

Lancaster District Judge Paul White Tuesday set the amount of Earl S. Texter's appeal bond at $15,000.

Texter, 22, had been convicted by a jury Nov. 19 of the statutory rape of a 7-year-old girl and had been sentenced to 10 years in the State Penitentiary, but is appealing the conviction to the State Supreme Court.

Texter is a former Lincoln Air Force Base airman whose home is in Philadelphia, Pa. The girl involved was the younger sister of his former girl friend.

Man Fined, Jailed For Contributing

James Clegg of Kansas City, Mo., and formerly of Lincoln, was fined $500 and sentenced to 6 months in the county jail Tuesday in Lancaster District Court on a contributing to the delinquency of a minor charge.

Clegg, 38, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old boy from Apr. 1-30 and had pleaded guilty before Judge Paul White.

Judge White gave him the maximum penalty possible on the offense charged.

Clegg had originally been charged with sodomy but the charge had been reduced by the county attorney's office. Clegg had pleaded innocent to the sodomy charge.

Building Permit Issued For Motel

A building permit for a 29-unit motel at 2732 O was issued to Dr. Wallace W. Lamphere by the city building inspector Tuesday.

Construction cost is $98,000, according to the permit. The motel will have 38 parking stalls. It will adjoin existing dental offices at 2720 O.

Yule Mailing Might Show 8-10% Jump

Early indications are that Christmas mailings at the Lincoln Post Office will increase about 8 or 10% this year over last year.

So far for December, outgoing letters totaled 3.1 million, an increase of 8.6% while parcel post totaled 131,105 pieces for a 10% increase.

On the incoming side, letters totaled 2.6 million for an 8.8% increase while incoming parcel post totaled 94,000 pieces or a decrease of 1%.

Explaining the apparent decrease in incoming packages, postal officials said Christmas is one day later in the week this year and thus the accumulative comparison "is running one day lighter."

Christmas mailings are building up, they said.

Supt. of Mails Gerald Jones said that the Lincoln Post Office already has 58 temporary helpers on duty and have brought in 25 of the 55 extra trucks expected to be used during the Christmas rush.

While peak days are expected, there is expected to be no problems in handling the anticipated volumes, Jones said.

Gold Keys For High Scholarship Awarded To 6 NU Journalism Students

Gold Keys, honoring journalism majors with the highest first year accumulative averages, were presented to 6 students at the annual Journalism Christmas party at the University of Nebraska Tuesday.

Mary Lou Reese of Red Oak, Ia. Sarah Alden of Kimball, Gretchen Shellberg of Omaha, Larry Novicki of Columbus, Jane Crooker of Auburn, and Jacque Janecek of North Platte were presented keys by Bernie Rothenberger, associate editor of the Lincoln Star. The keys are sponsored by The Lincoln Star and The Lincoln Journal.

Three of the recipients are transfer students.

Mary Lou Reese, a junior, is a second year transfer student from Grinnell College. Miss Reese led the list of winners with an accumulated average of 6.854. She is a pledge of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism professional, associate editor of Scrip, student literary publication, and a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

From Midland

President of Theta Sigma Phi, Jacque Janecek is a senior transfer from Midland College. Last summer Miss Janecek worked for the North Platte Telegraph Bulletin. She is presently employed with the Daily Nebraskan. Miss Janecek has an accumulated average of 5.813. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Jane Crooker, a transfer from Texas Woman's University, is a senior. During the summers of 1957-1958 she worked with the Auburn newspapers. Miss Crooker is associate editor of WACO, Woodmen Accident and Life Insurance magazine. She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and has an accumulated average of 5.875.

2 Sophs

Two sophomores led their class in outstanding averages. Sarah Alden worked for the Western Nebraska Observer in Kimball last summer. Miss Alden writes a teen-age column for the Nebraska Farmer and is affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She has an accumulated average of 6.710.

A recipient of the Lincoln Journal Journalism Scholarship and a Regents Scholarship, Miss Shellberg holds an accumulated average of 6.500.

Miss Shellberg worked for the Lincoln Journal last year and is the Nebraska correspondent to the national magazine of Delta Gamma. She is also editor of First Glance, published by Builders organization.

Larry Novicki, a senior, is on the sports staff of the Lincoln Star and commander of the Pershing Rifle drill team. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and has an accumulated average of 6.167.

Repatriates Jailed

Nagoya, Japan (AP)—Fifteen Japanese repatriates from Red China landed here Tuesday in a Dutch freighter and were greeted by nearly 200 police. Police said the group—13 of them known Reds—had apparently been spirited out of the country in 1952-53 and were believed involved in a smuggling ring masterminded by the Japanese Communist Party. The repatriates were jailed on suspicion of violating Japan's immigration laws.

There are over 68,000,000 passenger cars traveling on the nation's highways today.

Demo Criticizes 'Over-Play' Tactics At Party Functions

A member of the Democratic state central committee—Jo Fisher of Lincoln—Tuesday criticized the manner in which recent Democratic party meetings have given certain potential candidates "an over-abundance of play."

Her statement followed on the heels of similar criticism from Clair Callan of Odell, chairman of an advisory board supporting Frank Morrison of Lincoln as a gubernatorial candidate.

Mrs. Fisher's displeasure, contained in a letter addressed to Democratic State Chairman Russell Hanson and members of the party's executive committee, was obviously aimed at the alleged promotion of Administrative Assistant Robert Conrad as a possible gubernatorial candidate.

'Strongly Resent'

"I am in full accord with Mr. Callan's statements and strongly resent programs like those presented at our recent convention and workshops in which potential candidates for high office receive an over-abundance of play and our only announced candidate for governor is completely ignored," Mrs. Fisher wrote.

"I believe that a continuation of these practices can only hurt both Mr. Conrad and the party."

Further, the letter stated:

"The Democratic Party must continue to be the 'party of the many and not just the few,' but this is difficult when we have opportunity at these affairs to hear only what a few party leaders want us to hear.

To 'Best Interests'

"It is certainly to the best interests of our party to have as many good candidates as possible and equal privileges for all.

"I know that all free-thinking Democrats share this view."

Mrs. Fisher also criticized the activities of publicist Gerald Schwartz of Omaha, stating: "It would be much easier to replace Mr. Schwartz than to find another candidate of the caliber of Mr. Morrison."

Conrad, a likely gubernatorial candidate, was a member of a panel discssion at the weekend workshop in Omaha, and served as toastmaster at the evening dinner.

Lincoln Sewage System Shows Net Income Decline Of $64,000

Lincoln's sanitary sewer system and plant showed a net income of $37,216 after depreciation allowances for the 1958-59 fiscal year as compared with $101,957 for the previous year.

Operating revenue of $444,218 from the sewer use fee and miscellaneous income was up 2% or $8,500, but the net income was cut by a $20,000 increase in depreciation, by $37,000 increase in debt service expense, and about an $8,000 increase in operating expense.

This was shown in the annual audit made for the city by a Lincoln public accounting firm.

Operating revenue of $444,218 included residential service charges, $242,609; non-residential, $199,575, and miscellaneous income, $2,033. Non-residential showed a $10,000 increase, but residential only about $1,000.

Charged against operating income was operating expense, $178,917, debt service, $103,022, and depreciation, $145,828.

The report notes the net profit before depreciation was $265,301 as compared with the consulting engineers' projected results of $328,500.

The city issued $500,000 in sanitary sewer bonds during the year, but another $500,000 remains unissued because actual revenue has not equalled engineering projected revenue.

Net book value of the sewer plant and system in service is $8,905,981 computed as $12,499,541 replacement cost less reserve for depreciation of $3,593,559. Total assets is computed at $10,539,696.

In the liabilities column is long-term debt of $2,915,000 and other liabilities of $172,344, leaving the city's equity in the sewer system at $7,272,063.

Legion, 40 And 8 Award Goes To Clarence L. Clark

Clarence L. Clark has received a certificate of merit for distinguished service from American Legion Post No. 3 and Lincoln Voiture 103 of the 40 and 8.

The presentation was made by Loran Cottrell, past chef de gare of the Lincoln 40 and 8 at the Christmas party held at the Legionnaire Club.

$9.2 Million Invested In Goods, Work

... By Consumers

Columbus — An analysis operations report released by Consumers Public Power District revealed that CPPD invested a record $9,270,583 in construction and equipment during a 12-month period which ended Sept. 30.

The report, prepared by R. W. Beck, utility analysts and engineers, also stated that CPPD's total operating revenues hit a record $19,259,277 for an 8% gain over the previous 12 months. Operating expenses totalled a record $13,372,076 for a 9.7% advance in a year.

Other records established during the period included: average number of customers—121,238 for a gain of 2,444; cost of producing power—$8,000,940, an increase of $795,623; "in lieu of tax" payments—$625,503 as against $355,988; and total kilowatthour sales (the unit of measuring electricity) — 922,629,622, up more than 76.3 million during the period.

A majority of the construction and equipment money went into CPPD's "Sheldon Station" conventional steam plant and the related sodium graphite-type nuclear power facility now being built near Hallam. The 100,000-KW steam plant will be in operation in April, 1961. The nuclear facility is scheduled to be tested in late 1961 and become a power producer in 1962.

Power production costs showed an increase of $658,489 in CPPD's Eastern System where it purchases nearly all of its electrical energy (Eastern System bill—$7,293,391). The costs in the Western System where CPPD produces its own power gained $37,134 (total Western System bill—$707,549).

Flynn's Girl Friend Wants Her Clothing

New York (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn's last girl friend, 17-year-old Beverly Aadland, went to court Tuesday to try to get back several thousand dollars worth of clothing.

Beverly Aadland

She said Flynn had put the things in storage for her before his death and that the warehouse firm now won't let her have them back.

In court papers Miss Aadland said the garments included dresses, skirts, blouses and shoes which cost about $10,000, but now are worth about $4,000.

She said the Hayes storage firm of 305 East 61st St., Manhattan, won't return the clothing or pay her for it.

She asked State Supreme Court to order its return or force the Hayes concern to pay her $14,000—$4,000 for the property and $10,000 in damages for withholding it.

Disease Curb Survey Study Is Conducted

A survey study of contagion control practices at Lincoln General Hospital was conducted Monday and Tuesday by John A. Rowe, scientist director of the Communicable Disease Center Regional office, Kansas City, Mo.

The study was part of a program throughout the region to find the best possible methods to combat staphylococcus aureus, an infection that is resistant to many antibiotics.

The main objectives of the study are: to obtain information on types and usage of germicides; to acquaint contagion disease control investigators and public health representatives with many aspects of hospital practice and cleanliness; to increase hospital awareness of the problem of staphylococcus aureus and of the Public Health Service interest in it; to find if different hospital practices may be a usefull tool in finding environmental problems important in the infections problem and to find a means of demonstrating effectiveness of modified environmental techniques on the basis of infection rates.

Once the information has been compiled, it will be used for research studies at the Disease Control Center in Atlanta, Ga.

Missing Woman Is Located In Norfolk Hospital

Omaha (AP)—The search for an Omaha woman who was thought to have disappeared under mysterious circumstances ended when it was learned she is a patient at the Norfolk State Hospital.

The woman is Mrs. Alice Rivers Thomas. She had been transferred to Norfolk after being admitted to the Douglas County Hospital. The search began after police inspected the woman's home and found evidence of what they termed an unexplained disappearance.

Mrs. Thomas had been admitted to the county hospital 6 weeks ago.

E. D. Lundak, 74, Pierce, Is Dead

Pierce (AP)—Funeral rites will be held Saturday for E. D. Lundak, 74, Pierce business man who died in a hospital Tuesday after suffering a stroke.

The rites will be at 1:30 p. m. Saturday in Hillview Chapel.

Mr. Lundak had served as school superintendent at Wakefield and Pierce. He owned a furniture store and mortuary at Pierce.

Survivors include his widow, the former Ruth Walton of Fremont; two sons and a daughter, Robert of Lancaster, Calif., Lt. Col. Edward of the U.S. Army, Formosa; and Mrs. Duane Schultz, Lincoln.

ROCKEFELLER SAYS:

Survival Of America Is In Peril

Program Offered To Meet Challenge

Milwaukee (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller asserted Tuesday in a speech on foreign problems that Soviet policy, backed by military power, threatens the very survival of the United States.

He outlined a 7-point program to meet the challenge.

In a speech prepred for delivery before the Milwaukee World Affairs Council, Rockefeller said:

"In military terms, America stands gravely vulnerable for the first time in history to an attack that could, in less than one hour, afflict such damage as to put in peril the America we have known for 200 years."

He cited a recent study of American defensive strength and said it contains the warning:

"The military position of the United States has declined in the short span of 15 years from one of unchallenged security to that of a nation both open and vulnerable to direct and devastating attack."

Rockefeller came into Wisconsin Tuesday on what may be the most important leg of a political survey he is conducting in the Middlewest and the South.

He says this trip, plus his November foray to the West Coast, will help him decide whether to bid for the Republican nomination for President.

Birth Control Shouldn't Be Vote Issue: Spellman

New York (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman said Tuesday birth control should not be a political issue.

"I think President Eisenhower cleared the air on that," the cardinal added. "He excluded it as a political issue."

Prison Guards Indicted

... Abuse Charged

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted a former captain of the guard, his lieutenant and 12 guards at Raiford State Prison on charges of abusing prisoners.

The indictments were returned on testimony given by 60 convicts over a two-week period earlier this year and concerned disturbances in the maximum security unit at Raiford in May of last year.

Those at the head of the list were Capt. James H. Dunn and Lt. Earl Chesser, who were discharged after legislative and state cabinet investigations.

List Of Guards

The guards indicted were James A. Barton, John C. Batten, Russell Carter, Johnny O. Dobbs, Dopsie A. Griffis, Hubert Griffis, Ronnie Griffis, Earlis Harvey, Melvin McKinney, Andrew Richardson, Albert Stafford and Edward Taylor.

Specifically they were charged with violating the prisoners' civil rights by chaining them to the bars of their cells, sometimes naked and without food, for one to 10 days and "assaulting them with water forcefully ejected from a hose."

The indictments also said the guards "would otherwise torture, abuse and physically mistreat such prisoners all for the purpose of inflicting summary punishment upon them."

Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation Elects

The Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation, Inc. has elected four new members and re-elected two to its board of trustees, it was announced Tuesday.

The new members, all of Lincoln, are: Roger Cunningham of the First National Bank; Thomas C. Woods Jr. of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Joe W. Seacrest, publisher of The Lincoln Journal; and Gene Tallman of the Abel Construction Company.

Re-elected were James Stuart of the Stuart Investment Company, vice president, and Joseph J. Cariotto, a Lincoln lawyer.

Other members of the Board of Trustees include: Carl W. Olson of the Olson Construction Co., president; W. J. Ayres of Ayres, Swanson and Associates, Inc.; G. F. Brownfield of Lincoln Steel Co.; John M. Campbell of Miller and Paine; Byron Dunn of the National Bank of Commerce; A. James Ebel of KOLN-TV; Wilbur A. Miller of the Equitable Life Insurance Society of the United States; James A. Strauss of Strauss Brothers Lumber Co.; I. W. Wheeler of Steckley Hybrid Corn Co.; and Dr. C. Vin White, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The Foundation, which also includes 78 University of Nebraska students, is a research program centered around how people think, act and deal with their problems. In accordance with this it carries on five service projects a year. They are child service, orthopedic service, communication service, family project, and teenage project.

3 CASES OF RABBIT FEVER ARE REPORTED

Three cases of tularemia or rabbit fever highlighted the weekly report Tuesday of the State Health Department.

The cases bring to four the number this year compared to one at this time last year.

A Saline County farmer, a Lincoln man and a University of Nebraska student were the ones who contracted the disease, the department said.

A single case of non-paralytic polio involving an 18-year-old Grand Island boy brought the number of polio cases this year to 133 compared to 34 at this time last year. The boy had three Salk shots.

Good Will Mission

Stockholm, Sweden (AP)—Premier Tage Erlander leaves Thursday for a good will tour of India and Pakistan.

2 Tax Office Staffers Quit

Two members of the state tax commissioner's staff announced their resignations Tuesday, as Commissioner Fred Herrington concluded his last day in office.

Herrington, who resigned to become executive director of the Nebraska Citizens Council effective Jan. 1, is succeeded by Forrest A. Johnson, former Fremont mayor.

Resigning Tuesday were Jerry L. Snyder, director of the financial division, and Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, wife of the Republican state auditor.

Snyder leaves Jan. 12 to enter private law practice with H. B. Muffly of Lincoln. Formerly an examiner for the State Railway Commission, he has been with the tax commissioner for nearly a year.

Mrs. Johnson had been with Herrington since 1956.

Former Deputy Tax Commissioner Wilber Houtchens resigned several months ago to re-enter military service.

William E. "Pat" Daugherty of Lincoln was appointed by Gov. Ralph Brooks to fill the Houtchens vacancy, although he has not yet assumed the same title.

Ann Haith, Herrington's secretary, resigned about a week ago to take a new position.

Monster Furnace

Moscow (AP) — The news agency Tass says Russian engineers have designed a 600-ton open hearth steel furnace. Tass said the biggest now is a 540-ton furnace in the United States.

Medical License Decision Delayed

The state health director Tuesday delayed for seven days the decision on the revocation of the medical license of Dr. Harry G. Williams, 59, of Omaha, who has been convicted of illegal sales of drugs.

Dr. E. A. Rogers agreed to the delay at the request of Williams' attorney, Robert D. Zimmerman, whose previous request for a second continuance of the case was denied. Zimmerman said he needed the time to present ffidavits in Williams' defense.

Williams, who was not present at the hearing, was convicted in Federal District Court in October on five counts of illegal sales of drugs. He was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year on each count, but in a separate action the sentence was reduced to three years probation. Williams pleaded "no contest" at the trial.

Faulty Communication

Buffalo, N.Y. (UPI) — It was just a misunderstanding, defendent Larry Thomas, 22, told the jury. He didn't say anything about a "holdup" to the liquor store proprietor; he merely asked him to "hurry up."

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! Introductory size 43¢.

Wheat Scores Rare Advance

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures were in good demand Tuesday and scored gains running to more than a cent a bushel, an increasingly rare performance for that grain lately.

Other grains and soybeans finished generally within small fractions of previous closes. Dealings in soybeans were active, however, and at times that commodity was well ahead.

The extreme advance was on December wheat which derived its strength from renewed flour mill buying and short covering.

At their best, soybeans held gains of as much as a cent in spots during early trading and they were ahead major fractions until a flurry of selling at noon. For a few minutes the advances were wiped out. Trade there was hinged to the market for soybean meal which hit new high prices for the season at times.

Wheat was ¼-1¼ cents a bushel higher at the close, December $1.97½; corn ¼ lower to ¼ higher, December $1.09½; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, December 76½; rye ⅝ higher to 1 cent lower, December $1.28¾; soybeans ⅜ higher to ½ lower, January $2.14⅜-½.

STOCKS DECLINE

New York (AP) — The stock market tried to make a new high in the Dow Jones industrial advance Tuesday but a wave of profit taking slashed the advance to a net loss for the session.

In the first hour the Dow Industrials stood at 678.54, above the historic closing high of 678.10 reached last Aug. 3. Every hour thereafter the average lost ground. It closed at 67.78 for a loss of 1.29.

Steels, electronics, most motors and chemicals were good gainers in the early trading but their gains wilted as selling gained impetus and by the close most plus signs in these groups had been transformed to minus signs.

It looked like a good time to cash profits, brokers said, and that's what the customers did.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks wiped out a gain of $1.00 at noon and closed at $228.70 for a net loss of 40 cents. The industrials were down $1.20, the rails rose 30 cents and the utilities rose 20 cents.

It was another very broad market, the 1,279 issues traded being the most for any session since that of Jan. 15. Of the total 442 advanced and 631 declined. New highs for the year were 33 and new lows 44.

Volume was 3,450,000 shares compared with 3,100,000 Monday.

American Stock Exchange prices also were lower on volume of 1,560,000 shares compared with 1,580,000 Monday.

U.S. government bonds turned lower at the close in quiet trading.

Trading volume increased to $7,350,000 par value on the Big Board from $6,380,000 Monday.

Butcher Hog Prices Drop

Omaha (AP) — Butcher hog prices dropped 50 to 75 cents on the Omaha market Tuesday. Fat cattle trading was slow on liberal supplies. Choice beeves were steady and others weak to 25 cents lower. Fat lambs were unchanged.

CHICAGO

The butcher hog supply of 10,000 head Tuesday was the smallest for a Tuesday in five weeks and prices were strong to 25 cents higher in a moderately active trade.

Best demand appeared to be for weights over 220 lbs. and these reflected the full advance. There were no strictly No. 1 grade offered and the buyers paid the $12.85 top for mixed 1s and 2s scaling 200-215 lbs. All 190-220 lbs mixed grades sold at $12.00-12.75 and heavier weights at $10.00-12.25. Sows were $8.00-9.75.

Slaughter steers were steady to 50 cents lower in a slow trade. The high choice and mixed choice and prime weighing 1,350 lbs. and down brought $26.50-27.50 and the strictly choice which included some weights over 1,400 lbs. at $24.00-26.25. The good grade sold down to $22.00.

Heifers and vealers were steady, bulls strong. Heifers cleared at $22.00-25.50 for good to high choice grades, vealers $22.00-30.00 for standard to choice, and bulls $19.00-21.00 for utility and commercial.

The sheep market had a large supply of 5,000 head on sale with wooled slaughter lambs selling weak to 25 cents lower at $16.50-18.25 for good to choice kinds. Ewes were unchanged at $3.50-5.00.

Hogs: 10,000; strong to 25 higher; 220 lbs. up mostly 25 higher; bulk No. 1-2-3 mixed grades 190-220 lbs. 12.00-12.75; 150 head 200-215 lbs. No. 1-2 12.85; mixed No. 1-2-3 220-250 lbs. 11.50-12.25; mixed No. 2-3 250-280 lbs. 11.00-11.75.

Franch Testifies Against His Mother

Youth Tells Of Argument

Butte (AP)—Nyal Franch, 18, took the stand Tuesday to tell the story of a fight that apparently brought about the death of his half-brother, Frank Vanderlinde, 21, at the home of their mother, Mrs. Sadie Dickerson last June 21.

Mrs. Dickerson in on trial for first degree murder in the slaying. Franch also is charged with first degree murder in the death of Frank.

Franch, put on the stand as a state's witness, related:

He heard his mother and Frank engaged in an argument and heard Vanderlinde say "If she didn't shut her mouth he'd stop paying for something." Mrs. Dickerson replied "she didn't have too."

Then Vanderlinde engaged Franch in a dispute and Franch told Frank "get out of there." Vanderlinde then picked up a piece of cable and hit Franch.

Franch picked up a brace and bit and threw it at Vanderlinde, hitting him in the back of the head and knocking him to the ground with the brace and bit underneath him.

The Mrs. Dickerson ran to the fallen Frank and sat astraddle him.

The witness said he then saw movement of mother's arms and when she got up she told Franch "you killed him."

Franch said he told his mother to go get bandages which she did before the pair started to Butte with Vanderlinde.

At Butte a doctor gave Vanderlinde an injection and he was taken to an O'Neill hospital. He was dead on arrival.

Mrs. Dickerson was stoney faced throughout the day as testimony began.

Judge Lyle Jackson of Neligh presiding over the hearing, ordered no loitering in the courthouse and limited spectators to 140, the number of seats in the courtroom, which was crowded during the day with many being turned away.

The court overruled an attempt by the defense to introduce testimony given by Franch in favor of his mother at the preliminary hearing for her on the murder charge. The defense in its opening statement claimed Vanderlinde was subject to epileptic seizures and that he had an inheritance of $8,000 that had dwindled to $4,000 before he became 21 in April.

2 More Die On Highways

Two more persons have lost their lives on Nebraska's highways bringing the 1959 road fatality toll to 324 compared with 329 at this time last year.

The latest victims:

Arthur Masden, 56, Verdel.

Harvey Warrior, 31, Ogalala, S.D.

Masden died Tuesday of injuries received in a two-car collision at the crest of a hill near Verdel, the State Safety Patrol reported. The accident occurred last Saturday.

The Patrol identified the driver of the second car as Leonard Nielsen of Verdel.

A highway death last Friday night near the Nebraska-South Dakota border north of Rushville in which Warrior was killed will be counted as a Nebraska fatality, the State Accident Records Bureau reported.

A sheriff's report showed the point of impact in the collision had been in Nebraska rather than in South Dakota as earlier reported.

Hugh Boyle Will Not Accept Post

Omaha (UPI) —Hugh A. Boyle, Omaha attorney, said he would not accept Governor Brooks' offer of appointment as Douglas County election commissioner because such an appointment might hurt the Democratic party.

Boyle said that because his brother, Bernard, is Democratic national committeeman for Nebraska, the appointment "might give rise to and stimulate factions within our ranks, which would not be conducive to building and maintaining a strong and successful Democratic party.

"This is the last thing that I want to happen, and I am sure that my brother feels the same as I do," he said in a letter to the governor.

He also said he refused the appointment because it would require too much time away from his law practice.

Douglas County Election Commissioner Herman Kuppinger has announced earlier he intends to resign at the end of this year.

Hascoolidge Mute At Arraignment On Larceny Count

Wilber (AP) — John Hascoolidge Jr., 27, Wilber beauty operator and for nearly 7 months a police officer, stood mute Tuesday when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Henry Deitrich on a grand larceny charge.

Saline County Sheriff John Tesar said Hascoolidge returned voluntarily to face the charge after fleeing as far as Las Vegas.

Tesar said Hascoolidge disappeared Thursday after he was questioned in connection with theft from the cash register of a filling station and a warrant for grand larceny was issued. He returned over the weekend.

Corn Harvest Reaches 97% Of Completion

Corn picking reached the 97% completion mark by last Saturday and many counties have finished the job, government crop statisticians said.

In its weekly crop report, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said a few local sections still had about 10-20% of their corn in the fields.

Gleaning operations continued during the past week, especially in the central counties.

High moisture corn held back harvest in some southeastern counties. Artificial drying of harvested corn continued in some places despite good harvesting weather.

Even Plowing Common

The division said last week's mild weather was favorable for farm work. Operators were busy with repairs, fencing, and hauling hay and feed. Plowing and discing of corn fields was common, even though it is unusual this late in the year.

Winter grain crops maintained their condition, although dry weather persisted over the state. The division said it was fortunate that winds were light and temperatures were moderate because some of the winter grain acreage is vulnerable to damage because of dry surface moisture conditions.

Moisture would be welcome in much of the state and snow cover would be beneficial where damage from soil blowing and exposure is a threat.

Pastures and ranges were open over the entire state, providing feed for livestock. A few local areas in the northern part of the state have short range and pasture feed and some stockmen expect a shortage of hay if winter weather is severe.

Traffic Violation Penalties Hiked

Scottsbluff (AP)—Scottsbluff's penalties for traffic violations have increased.

The city council has set the minimum fine for moving traffic violations, speeding excepted, at $5.

The speeding minimum was upped to $10 and $1 for each mile over the speed limit.
